Rain Falls, Corn Drops.
A Very Old Grapolite.
Britain Discusses Food.
On Birth Control.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

It has been raining in the corn belt, and that has cheered the farmers. The corn suffered from lack of rain.

Yesterday the price of corn fell more than five cents a bushel, December corn dropping from 98½ to 93 cents. The weather does something to cheer up the farmer, and then the grain speculators to cheer him down again. Don't envy farmers.

A charming young woman, told by a learned friend that on another planet the year is 50 years long, exclaimed: "Really, Willyum, how old must they be?"

You ask, "How old must this earth be?" when you read of Dr. Reed's graptolite of the clemacograpus family, found with numerous paleozoic fossils in a great Virginia cave. Dr. Reed says his graptolite lived and raised a family on this earth 500 million years ago.

That almost makes you shiver, and yet it is comforting. It makes you believe scientists who tell you this earth will last, with human beings on it, at least two or three hundred million years longer. We ought to accomplish something in that time.

Great Britain, seeking a cure for socialism, will set up a "food commission." The job of this commission will be to establish "a permanent check on food prices and supplies."

Wise Britons know that the best way to "cure socialism" is to do on a capitalistic basis what socialists promise to do on another basis.

In the days of the kaiser, the Germans showed their wisdom by establishing old age pensions and doing other things that socialism had been promising. That was cutting the ground from under the socialistic brethren, and that is what Britain proposes to do.

The world begins to discuss birth control as a subject that respectable people "may discuss without shame." Even clergymen discuss it. One British bishop, Barnes, of Birmingham, advocates birth control because "human welfare" is menaced by "human fecundity."

Instantly the humble vicar of Brighton, Canon Hicks, says he owes it to himself, his congregation, and human decency to contradict Bishop Barnes.

All good publicity, and that's what birth control advocates want.

The amusing thing is that men think the question should be settled by him. Each man decides how many shops he will run, how many bricks he will lay, how many ems of type he will set, how many factories he will build, etc.

But ninety-nine men out of a hundred are agreed that a woman has no right to decide how many children she shall create, nurse and raise.

Britain's national council of public morals, headed by the bishop of Winchester, urges "a five children standard for British families."

That would please the ghost of Theodore Roosevelt, but he would say "make it 10."

British mothers might organize a national council of family comfort, and say to the council of public morals, "All right, five children if you say so. But be kind enough to see

Ralph C. Benedum, pharmacist, and candidate for county recorder last fall, will seek the Democratic nomination for mayor at the primary election on Tuesday, August 11. Benedum was endorsed at a meeting of the Democratic central committee and other party leaders, held at the city hall last evening.

NORWAY TESTS TWO MONOPLANES FOR NORTH POLE RELIEF FLIGHT

Six Men Plan to Make Search for Amundsen-Ellsworth Arctic Flyers Who Have Been Missing for 14 Days.

COPENHAGEN, June 4.—The Norwegian naval station at Horten, Norway, expected to test today the two monoplanes, which, if satisfactory, will be taken to Spitzbergen Saturday to begin a search for the missing Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole flyers, comprising two aeroplanes and six men.

Both monoplanes are equipped with wireless so that the Norwegian government constantly will be in communication with the commanding officers and can send additional assistance quickly if the Amundsen-Ellsworth party is found in distress.

It is proposed to divide the territory in such a way that there would be no possibility of missing the party. The territory would be divided between the Norwegian expedition, the French expedition under Captain Charcot and the American expedition under Captain Donald B. MacMillan.

Today ended the fourteenth day since Amundsen and his associate, Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator, "hopped off" from Spitzbergen, an island east of Greenland and owned by Norway. No word has come from them.

Metal and celluloid butterflies, spiders and cupids will be sold on the streets under the direction of the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. John T. Bowers, of Bradshaw avenue, is chairman.

Additional workers, particularly in the East End district, are needed, Mrs. Bowers announced. Boy Scouts, youths from the boys' department of the Y. M. C. Still is Seized In East End Attic; Owner Fined $1,000

Secreted in a low attic, containing no windows, in a house in Central avenue, East End, police yesterday afternoon found a still for which they have been hunting for several weeks. As a result of the raid, Julius Pearce, employed at the American Vitrified Products company's plant, was fined $1,000 and costs on a charge of manufacturing liquor by Mayor Brown last night.

Police have visited Pearce's home several times during the last few weeks in search of liquor, but found nothing. When Chief McDermott, Captain Conley and Desk Sergeant Toland went to the house yesterday afternoon their attention was attracted by Pearce crawling down through a small trap door in the ceiling of an upstairs clothes press.

Officer Toland crawled through the trap door into the dark attic and found a 25-gallon still, several barrels of mash and five gallons of liquor. The trap door was so small that the police were forced to wreck the still to get it through the opening. The attic, about five foot high, was lighted with a lantern.

Police say that Pearce tore away a portion of the ceiling to get the barrels into the attic, then plastered it up again. The accused posted security as a guarantee that his fine would be paid.

OHIOAN TURNS PISTOL UPON SELF AFTER HE RUNS AMUCK IN HOME

Eight-year-old Girl, Who Flees From House in Nightie When First Shot is Fired by Her Uncle, is Only Member of Family to Escape Slaughter in Hamilton.

AGED MOTHER SHOT AS SHE SLEEPS, GUNMAN FIRES 50 TIMES OR MORE

Little Hope for Immediate Relief From Heat That Has Prevailed Since Sunday in Sight as Torrid Weather and Cool Waters Claim 25 More Victims in Mid-west.

HAMILTON, O., June 4.—Crazed by the intense heat, Lloyd Russell, 42, this morning shot and killed eight persons and then turned the gun upon himself, sending a bullet through one lung.

He first killed his mother, then his brother, his sister-in-law and her five small children.

The victims, in the order in which they apparently were shot to death, are:

Mrs. Rose Russell, 60; Mrs. Emma Russell, 36; John L. Russell, 35; Julia Russell, 10; Robert Russell, 8; Grace Russell,6; Paul Russell,3, and Richard Russell, 3 months.

Dorothy Russell, 8, was the only member of the family to escape. She ran screaming from the house in her nightie after the first shot was fired by her uncle.

Bodies Strewn About Home.

Neighbors heard the shooting and called the police.

By the time the officers arrived Russell had fired 50 shots or more. Some of the bodies of his victims were punctured five or six times.

The bodies were strewn about the house. The aged mother of the crazed man was shot as she slept. Others fell dead on the floor.

When the police entered the house it resembled a shambles.

Russell, with one shot through his lung, exclaimed:

His gun was empty, however, and the officers, as they stepped into the house covered him with their revolvers.

They took no chance on his firing again. He was weak and offered no resistance and was easily disarmed. When taken to a hospital physicians, after an examination, declared Russell would recover.

Slaughter Appalls Police.

Policemen broke into the house and took the gun away from Russell. Detectives Dooley and Miller, who were with them, were appalled at sight of the place of slaughter, they say.

The gun wielder told the police that he worked at the Champion paper mills in Hamilton and was single. He never drank, smoked or chewed tobacco and was regarded as a good citizen. According to his story, a mortgage for $1,600 was due on his home Thursday and he didn't have the money to meet it. Therefore, according to the police, rather than have himself and his brother's family turned into the streets, he decided to slay

The report alleged that a guard named Kirksles had whipped the men while he was under the influence of liquor and recommended that he be discharged.

LIQUOR-PROOF WALL EXTENDING AROUND U. S. RUM WAR OBJECTIVE

To Cut Supply of Those, Who, With Well Stocked Cellars, Laugh at Volstead Law, Says Chieftain.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A liquor-proof wall extending entirely around the United States to stop smuggling of wet goods permanently is the objective of the government's rum war, the treasury disclosed today.

To cut off the liquor supply of those who, with well-stocked cellars, have laughed at the Volstead act, is among the prime purposes of the "whisky crusade," Gen. L. C. Andrews, Field marshal of the prohibition forces, declared.

"I believe that we can make the borders and the coast lines as difficult for the liquor smugglers to reach as though they were an armed enemy," Andrews said.

Details of a general plan to bring about observance of the dry law are being worked out by Andrews, who was selected by President Coolidge to head enforcement and to coordinate the activities of various agencies.

Initial steps to bring about cooperation of the law enforcement arms, including the coast guard, prohibition unit, customs service, department of justice, immigration inspectors and the department of agriculture's "border patrol," to clamp down the dry lid have proven the plan is feasible, according to reports to the treasury.

Sizzling Weather Will Continue, is Washington Word

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The weather bureau today promised no relief from the heat wave during the remainder of the week east of the Mississippi river, although slightly lower temperatures are probable in northern New York and northern New England tonight.

Local thunder showers were predicted for the lower lake region.

The temperature of 99 degrees registered here Wednesday was said to be the highest record for June since 1911.

GERALD CHAPMAN GETS REPRIEVE

HARTFORD, Conn., June 4. — Gerald Chapman was reprieved this afternoon by Gov. J. H. Trumbull until Dec. 3, 1925, to allow the completion of his appeal to the supreme court on errors.

The arch bandit was under sentence to be hanged on June 25. He was convicted and sentenced for the murder of Policeman James J. Skelly of New Britain, Conn., in the holdup of a furniture store.

H. M. Alcorn, state's attorney, made the reprieve application to the governor and copies of it were served this afternoon on the clerk of the Hartford county superior court and on the warden of the state prison.

KIWANIS HOST TO ORCHESTRA

School Musicians Give Selections at Luncheon.

Members of the high school orchestra, numbering approximately 25, were guests of the Kiwanis club at the noon luncheon in the Larkins annex, Market street, today.

The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Ralph Johnson, gave a program of music preceding and following the meeting. Feature numbers included a trumpet duet by Misses Marcella Miller and Jean Langfitt and two saxophone solos by Master Ted Tatgenhorst, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tatgenhorst, youngest member of the orchestra.

Eighty-five members of the club and their guests attended the luncheon. G. E. Lewis presided. Robert Parker, Chester real estate and insurance dealer, furnished the attendance prize, a pair of silk socks and a necktie, which were awarded to J. C. Smith.

Members of the club, through Frank G. Jones, chairman of the inter-city relations committee, were extended an invitation to attend a Kiwanis meeting to be held in the Elks' home,

NORWAY TESTS TWO MONOPLANES FOR NORTH POLE RELIEF FLIGHT

Six Men Plan to Make Search for Amundsen-Ellsworth Arctic Flyers Who Have Been Missing for 14 Days.

COPENHAGEN, June 4.—The Norwegian naval station at Horten, Norway, expected to test today the two monoplanes, which, if satisfactory, will be taken to Spitzbergen Saturday to begin a search for the missing Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole flyers, comprising two aeroplanes and six men.

Both monoplanes are equipped with wireless so that the Norwegian government constantly will be in communication with the commanding officers and can send additional assistance quickly if the Amundsen-Ellsworth party is found in distress.

It is proposed to divide the territory in such a way that there would be no possibility of missing the party. The territory would be divided between the Norwegian expedition, the French expedition under Captain Charcot and the American expedition under Captain Donald B. MacMillan.

Today ended the fourteenth day since Amundsen and his associate, Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator, "hopped off" from Spitzbergen, an island east of Greenland and owned by Norway. No word has come from them.

100 WORKERS ARE APPOINTED FOR PLAYLOT SOUVENIR DAY

Seek Funds Tomorrow to Maintain Recreation Center.

$1,200 IS GOAL

Mrs. John T. Bowers Names Aides in One-day Drive.

More than 100 workers—club women, high school girls, Boy Scouts and boys from the Y. M. C. A. and playgrounds—will collect funds tomorrow, Playlot Novelty Day, to finance the operation of the city recreation center at the corner of Second and Washington streets.

Metal and celluloid butterflies, spiders and cupids will be sold on the streets under the direction of the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. John T. Bowers, of Bradshaw avenue, is chairman.

Mrs. Bowers will be in charge of headquarters which will be maintained during the day in the Chamber of Commerce offices in the Little building. She will be assisted by Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mrs. W. H. Nagel, Miss Edna Simms, Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, Mrs. Jason H. Brookes and Mrs. Maude L. McMurray.

"Let's Give the Kiddies a Safe Place to Play," is the slogan adopted by the workers in their appeal for funds. The solicitation will start at 9 a. m. and continue until probably 9 o'clock in the evening.

Need East End Workers.

Additional workers, particularly in the East End district, are needed, Mrs. Bowers announced. Boy Scouts, youths from the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. and playground lads, who will be under the leadership of Harvey J. Price, boys' work director at the Y. M. C. A., will circulate among crowds on the circus grounds and also be assigned the railroad and street car waiting stations.

Approximately $1,200 will be required to finance the downtown playground this summer. Should the re-

Still is Seized In East End Attic; Owner Fined $1,000

Secreted in a low attic, containing no windows, in a house in Central avenue, East End, police yesterday afternoon found a still for which they have been hunting for several weeks. As a result of the raid, Julius Pearce, employed at the American Vitrified Products company's plant, was fined $1,000 and costs on a charge of manufacturing liquor by Mayor Brown last night.

Police have visited Pearce's home several times during the last few weeks in search of liquor, but found nothing. When Chief McDermott, Captain Conley and Desk Sergeant Toland went to the house yesterday afternoon their attention was attracted by Pearce crawling down through a small trap door in the ceiling of an upstairs clothes press.

Officer Toland crawled through the trap door into the dark attic and found a 25-gallon still, several barrels of mash and five gallons of liquor. The trap door was so small that the police were forced to wreck the still to get it through the opening. The attic, about five foot high, was lighted with a lantern.

Police say that Pearce tore away a portion of the ceiling to get the barrels into the attic, then plastered it up again. The accused posted security as a guarantee that his fine would be paid.

LIQUOR-PROOF WALL EXTENDING AROUND U. S. RUM WAR OBJECTIVE

To Cut Supply of Those, Who, With Well Stocked Cellars, Laugh at Volstead Law, Says Chieftain.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A liquor-proof wall extending entirely around the United States to stop smuggling of wet goods permanently is the objective of the government's rum war, the treasury disclosed today.

To cut off the liquor supply of those who, with well-stocked cellars, have laughed at the Volstead act, is among the prime purposes of the "whisky crusade," Gen. L. C. Andrews, Field marshal of the prohibition forces, declared.

"I believe that we can make the borders and the coast lipes as difficult for the liquor smugglers to reach as though they were an armed enemy," Andrews said.

Details of a general plan to bring about observance of the dry law are being worked out by Andrews, who was selected by President Coolidge to head enforcement and to coordinate the activities of various agencies.

Initial steps to bring about cooperation of the law enforcement arms, including the coast guard, prohibition unit, customs service, department of justice, immigration inspectors and the department of agriculture's "border patrol," to clamp down the dry lid have proven the plan is feasible, according to reports to the treasury.

OHIOAN TURNS PISTOL UPON SELF AFTER HE RUNS AMUCK IN HOME

Eight-year-old Girl, Who Flees From House in Nightie When First Shot is Fired by Her Uncle, is Only Member of Family to Escape Slaughter in Hamilton.

AGED MOTHER SHOT AS SHE SLEEPS, GUNMAN FIRES 50 TIMES OR MORE

Little Hope for Immediate Relief From Heat That Has Prevailed Since Sunday in Sight as Torrid Weather and Cool Waters Claim 25 More Victims in Mid-west.

HAMILTON, O., June 4.—Crazed by the intense heat, Lloyd Russell, 42, this morning shot and killed eight persons and then turned the gun upon himself, sending a bullet through one lung.

The victims, in the order in which they apparently were shot to death, are:

Mrs. Rose Russell, 60; Mrs. Emma Russell, 36; John L. Russell, 35; Julia Russell, 10; Robert Russell, 8; Grace Russell,6; Paul Russell,3, and Richard Russell, 3 months.

Dorothy Russell, 8, was the only member of the family to escape. She ran screaming from the house in her nightie after the first shot was fired by her uncle.

Bodies Strewn About Home.

Neighbors heard the shooting and called the police.

By the time the officers arrived Russell had fired 50 shots or more. Some of the bodies of his victims were punctured five or six times.

The bodies were strewn about the house. The aged mother of the crazed man was shot as she slept. Others fell dead on the floor.

When the police entered the house it resembled a shambles.

Russell, with one shot through his lung, exclaimed:

His gun was empty, however, and the officers, as they stepped into the house covered him with their revolvers.

They took no chance on his firing again. He was weak and offered no resistance and was easily disarmed. When taken to a hospital physicians, after an examination, declared Russell would recover.

Slaughter Appalls Police.

Policemen broke into the house and took the gun away from Russell. Detectives Dooley and Miller, who were with them, were appalled at sight of the place of slaughter, they say.

The gun wielder told the police that he worked at the Champion paper mills in Hamilton and was single. He never drank, smoked or chewed tobacco and was regarded as a good citizen. According to his story, a mortgage for $1,600 was due on his home Thursday and he didn't have the money to meet it. Therefore, according to the police, rather than have himself and his brother's family turned into the streets, he decided to slay

Convicts Whipped Until Blood Ran, Says Grand Jury

GASTONIA, N. C., June 4.—Convicts in Camp No. 2 in this county have been whipped until the blood ran, the Gaston county grand jury declared in a report today.

The whipping was administered, according to the grand jury, with sticks eight feet long and while the prisoners were at work.

The report alleged that a guard named Kirksles had whipped the men while he was under the influence of liquor and recommended that he be discharged.

Sizzling Weather Will Continue, is Washington Word

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The weather bureau today promised no relief from the heat wave during the remainder of the week east of the Mississippi river, although slightly lower temperatures are probable in northern New York and northern New England tonight.

Local thunder showers were predicted for the lower lake region.

The temperature of 99 degrees registered here Wednesday was said to be the highest record for June since 1911.

Finds Scar Surgery New Aid for Criminals

New York.—Surgeons and heads of hospitals may soon have to be included among those to whom the police send circulars descriptive of criminals at large.

The comparatively new field of reconstructive surgery, by which scars or other distinguishing marks may be removed from the face or body, threatens to become an important aid to criminals sought by the police.

Deputy Police Commissioner Faurot is considering a problem stated in an address to the school of detectives by Dr. James Francis Grattan, a New York surgeon who was a medical officer at West Point during the World war. Doctor Grattan reconstructed faces and bodies of many wounded soldiers.

This is the problem:

"What is to prevent a criminal with a scar on his face, and who is wanted in Chicago, from going to some legitimate surgeon's office in Philadelphia or some other city and having his scar removed, remaining away until all visible signs are removed, and then going where he pleases?"

Hairdresser, Laundress, Chauffeur Share in Will

Milwaukee.—Bequests of $2,000 to Miss Meta Leopold, hairdresser of the late Mrs. Edith Manville; $5,000 to Mrs. Anna Schmitt, her laundress, and $10,000 to Edward Holstein, her chauffeur, are features of her will filed with Judge Sheridan. The value of the estate is estimated at $808,000. The will provides that the $58,000 home be sold and the proceeds divided among five institutions in memory of her husband, the late Charles R. Manville, an officer of Johns-Manville, Inc., manufacturers of asbestos, and her father, the late Dr. Oscar W. Carlson, widely known physician and Civil war veteran.

Sir Oliver Lodge Out in Defense of Angels

London.—Sir Oliver Lodge has publicly come out on the side of the angels, and the famous student of the occult declares he is convinced that not only do angels exist, but there are many grades of beings higher than man.

Speaking at Greyfriars, Sir Oliver said there was no reason to doubt the existence of many grades of celestial beings. In Revelation they are called cherubim, seraphim, angels and archangels, and science, so far as it has progressed, makes it impossible to hold that man is the last word in creation.

When one opens a door in answer to the meowing of a cat, that is a miracle from the cat's point of view, said Lodge, and in the same way the interference in our behalf of supernatural powers is a miracle to us.

Rheumatism

LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Asserts James H. Allen, Who Drove Out Rheumatic Poisons After Being Crippled for Years.

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," say East Liverpool druggists who have been appointed agents in your city. It is Mr. Allen's own discovery.

Clever Buffalo Chemist Says New Treatment for Piles Never Fails

Buffalo, N. Y.—For years the generally accepted tratment for Hemorrhoids or Piles has been by the insertion of many so-called antiseptics and astringents into the rectum. Such treatments, while they in many cases gave relief, never reached or acted on the cause of the trouble and this was often true of surgical operations.

You've got to attack the real cause of the Piles and not the piles themselves and you've got to do it from a constitutional standpoint and this is just what the Hamadala treatment does. It attacks the cause and not the formation and the cause once removed, all those painful, congested, knotted and strangulated blood vessels are restored to their normal function and blind, bleeding or protruding piles become a thing of the past.

So sure and certain of results are the manufacturers that the Hamadala treatment is only sold under a rigid guarantee of satisfaction or money back. C. G. Anderson, Carnahan's drug stores, and J. D. Holloway are selling lots of this truly wonderful remedy. The price is $1.00. Mail orders filled. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

Finds Scar Surgery New Aid for Criminals

New York.—Surgeons and heads of hospitals may soon have to be included among those to whom the police send circulars descriptive of criminals at large.

The comparatively new field of reconstructive surgery, by which scars or other distinguishing marks may be removed from the face or body, threatens to become an important aid to criminals sought by the police.

Deputy Police Commissioner Faurot is considering a problem stated in an address to the school of detectives by Dr. James Francis Grattan, a New York surgeon who was a medical officer at West Point during the World war. Doctor Grattan reconstructed faces and bodies of many wounded soldiers.

This is the problem:

"What is to prevent a criminal with a scar on his face, and who is wanted in Chicago, from going to some legitimate surgeon's office in Philadelphia or some other city and having his scar removed, remaining away until all visible signs are removed, and then going where he pleases?"

The value of the estate is estimated at $608,000. The will provides that the $58,000 home be sold and the proceeds divided among five institutions in memory of her husband, the late Charles R. Manville, an officer of Johns-Manville, Inc., manufacturers of asbestos, and her father, the late Dr. Oscar W. Carlson, widely known physician and Civil war veteran.

Rheumatism

LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Asserts James H. Allen, Who Drove Out Rheumatic Poisons After Being Crippled for Years.

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," say East Liverpool druggists who have been appointed agents in your city. It is Mr. Allen's own discovery.

Clever Buffalo Chemist Says New Treatment for Piles Never Fails

Buffalo, N. Y.—For years the generally accepted tratment for Hemorrhoids or Piles has been by the insertion of many so-called antiseptics and astringents into the rectum. Such treatments, while they in many cases gave relief, never reached or acted on the cause of the trouble and this was often true of surgical operations.

You've got to attack the real cause of the Piles and not the piles themselves and you've got to do it from a constitutional standpoint and this is just what the Hamadala treatment does. It attacks the cause and not the formation and the cause once removed, all those painful, congested, knotted and strangulated blood vessels are restored to their normal function and blind, bleeding or protruding piles become a thing of the past.

So sure and certain of results are the manufacturers that the Hamadala treatment is only sold under a rigid guarantee of satisfatcion or money back. C. G. Anderson, Carnahan's drug stores, and J. D. Holloway are selling lots of this truly wonderful remedy. The price is $1.00. Mail orders filled. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

A. J. WHITE'S HAT IN RING HERE

Plumbing Contractor Will be Candidate for Mayor.

A. J. White, Sr., of Fifteenth street, today filed his petition with C. N. Brannan, deputy election supervisor here, as a Republican candidate for mayor at the August primaries.

The entry of White increases the Republican mayoralty field to two candidates. J. M. Kenney was the first to file for the executive's job.

White is a lifelong resident of Wellsville. He was born here in 1871. For 36 years he was in the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, having been employed as a boilermaker.

After leaving the railroad service a number of years ago, he entered the plumbing business in which he is engaged at the present time.

White, several years ago, was a member of the city council. He is now a constable, having been named to the office two years ago.

SUES PENNSY FOR $40,000 DAMAGES

Through his attorney, W. A. O'Grady, Ralph Congrove of Wellsville, former employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, has filed an action in common pleas court against the railroad company for $40,000 damages.

In his petition, Congrove asserts that he had been working as a drill press operator. He declares that the press was out of line and defective. He says that, as a result of an accident which he attributes to this condition, he suffered the loss of his right eye and the impairment of sight of his left eye.

RAILROADS START SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The summer campaign to prevent accidents and save lives at railroad crossings was inaugurated on the Pennsylvania railroad today. Efforts will be conentrated on the education of motor car drivers to crossing hazards. This will be the fourth nation-wide campaign under auspices of the American Railway association, in which the Pennsylvania railroad participates.

Elisha Lee, president in charge of operation, today issued the following order, calling upon all officers and employes for co-operation in the campaign.

"The fourth national 'careful-crossing' campaign to prevent railroad-highway crossing accidents begins today and will continue until September 30. The slogan is: 'Think, Driver, Think!'

"Seventeen and one-half million automobiles were registered in the United States last year and 2,099 persons were killed and 6,525 were injured at railway crossings, 85 per cent being drivers or other occupants of automobiles.

"This year the number of automobiles will probably reach 20,00,000, and crossing accidents, will, as a matter of course, show a marked increase. As a result, automobile drivers ought to use greater care when approaching railroad crossings, and this we believe the greater bulk of drivers will do when the danger is made clear to them.

"The elimination of all grade crossings in the United States by overhead construction would cost at least $19,000,000,000 and the Pennsylvania railway system alone the cost would amount to nearly $8,000,000,000. Such an enormous cost renders elimination on large scale impossible.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1925.

Make Play Safe For Children

The recreation and health committee of the City Federation of Women's clubs today appealed to mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters for their support tomorrow in a campaign to make play safe for the children of East Liverpool.

Under the direction of Mrs. John T. Bowers, chairman of the committee, club women and high school girls will sell souvenirs on streets and the East End circus grounds as a means of raising funds to maintain the municipal playground during the summer.

The response to the appeal shall determine the interest of the people in wholesome outdoor exercise for Young America as well as their desire to safeguard little John and Mary from the perils of traffic when the streets are used as play centers.

Approximately $1,200 is needed to maintain the recreation lot, which has been sponsored by the Club Federation for many years. Part of this fund will be expended for salaries for two supervisors, under whose direction all activities are to be conducted, while the remainder will be invested in new equipment, etc.

Through supervised play, the automobile death toll among children is being decreased. Recent reports show that nearly 19,000 lives are exacted annually by motor vehicles. In Ohio, the death toll in traffic accidents is near 800 a year.

Help safeguard children from the dangers of play in the public highways. Contribute your dollars and cents for the maintenance of supervised recreation. Buy playlot souvenirs tomorrow.

Hats In South Africa

The Basuto warriors who recently honored the Prince of Wales by appearing before him in native costume set off by European hats no doubt presented a somewhat awesome spectacle. Derby hats, black and brown, caps, military busbies, opera hats and one academic mortar board comprised the astonishing array of headgear of the chiefs and their followers. At the conclusion of the formal ceremonies the prince presented his loyal Basuto friends with walking sticks which will undoubtedly be carried by these warriors or their children at the next royal levee.

It would be rather interesting to know the history of those hats and caps. Were some of them given in exchange for far more valuable articles, such as ivory? Had they been distributed by missionaries or traders? Most of the hats were reported as looking as if they had seen better days. How many native parades and ceremonials had they witnessed, and how had they been allotted among the various social groups of the tribes?

The wearing of derby, battered cap, mortar board or opera hat in any civilized community certainly reveals something of the possessor's business or character. What about it in South Africa?

Monument to Tom and Huck

A monument is to be built in Hannibal, Mo., to Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. It will stand on Cardiff Hill, at the head of one of the principal business streets—a place often mentioned in Mark Twain's chronicles.

Tom and Huck deserve a monument, if any kids ever did, even though some finicky folk may say that the author's books are sufficient for the purpose. Well done in marble, without too much polish and refinement, in a pose and finish suggesting the ingenious and lovable deviltries of those immortal scalawags, they would be a notable addition to the glories of Hannibal, and an added attraction to visitors, even if not pointing any useful moral such as one commonly associates with memorial sculpture.

But if we are going to start building monuments to literary creations, where will this thing end? We shall have Dickens' and Cooper's and Bret Harte's and O. Henry's heroes materialized in marble, and shafts rising everywhere to characters which never existed except in the mind of genius.

That may be all right, though. Perhaps the children of imagination, as portrayed by masters, are the most real and enduring of all. The poets themselves were real enough, or seemed so when they walked about and spoke, ate, worked and slept like other folk. But Homer, Virgil, Dante and Shakespeare are now only vague traditions, while the gods and men they dreamed and sung of are still living and vital, like familiar friends that one doesn't take the trouble to visit.

Cultured Sailors

Sailors are demanding books, especially on the Great Lakes. So the American Merchant Marine Library Association is raising a collection of 10,000 volumes for them to while away their leisure time with this season.

What kind of books? There is a surprising demand for good literature, for solid works of history and economics, and especially for scientific works along many lines.

It is not exactly a case of old-fashioned sailors acquiring literary tastes but of the type of sailors changing. The "grizzled and blasphemous sea dog" of fiction is said to have given place to the student-athlete from high school or college, aiming to become an engineer or pilot, or working through the summer for money to carry on his school studies in the fall. The books are "as much a part of the ship as the mess table." The crew has plenty of time off, under the present rules, and little occasion or desire to waste it. "They just knock off and go below and read."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 4.—The unfortunate hiatus for the chorus girl is here. She is back from the road show. Back to the gas-jetted hall bedroom. Back to the dreary, monotonous round of the agencies—but happy withal because she is back on Broadway.

The notion that chinchilla and the chorine are synonymous is one of the most fallacious of popular myths. For one who has an apartment on the Drive or a limousine there are thousands in shiny serge wondering just how it will be possible to exist through the summer.

The cabarets used to offer them a slight and temporary haven but the professional dancing teams now supplant the expansive revue. The Stage Door Inn offers vicarious posts as waitresses, but the waiting list of applicants is long.

You see them bravely and hopefully waiting in the agency ante-rooms. Now and then they give way to little shoots of tears, but a few moments later in the jargon of Broadway they are "laughing it off." They cling together and—due to the ancient superstition—have a coin for the street beggar. This is an omen of luck.

There are two types of chorus girl. One sees in the footlight glamour a chance to angle for some big butter and egg man down front and launch on a chiffon career. The apotheosis of success to her is a Paquin gown and a white Russian wolf hound to lead up the avenue.

The other, who is in the majority, is a serious minded, hard-working girl who is usually fed-up on the romantic Cinderella slush of stepping into a star part and having her name etched in Broadway lights over night.

This does happen in fiction but in real life is rare. The manager of an agency who supplies "ladies of the ensemble" tells me that in a list of 204 girls to whom he supplied jobs last season only one arose above the chorus. She had a two-line speaking part and was selected because she had an amusing lisp. And a baby stare.

I perhaps receive a thousand letters a year from ambitious maidens aspiring to footlight fame. The letters come from the prairie cottage and city street. From hovel and mansion. Stage magic at some time or other seems to touch them all. For a number of years I was an associate of a producer who employed more chorus girls than any other of his ilk. In that long passing parade I can count only five who met with anything like success and none of this was extraordinary. But the list of those who have met with misfortune, despair and poignant tragedy would more than fill this space. Remember three who ended it all by self-administered poison. One who was garroted in her luxurious apartment, others who simply disappeared. A gloomy picture but a true one.

Two stage comedians, by the way, are filling in an "At Liberty" period in an unusual way this summer. Each was taken to Europe by a group of rich men to act as official jesters on board ship. They received all expenses and a salary guarantee for donning cap and bells.

Manhattan and Brooklyn women may smoke with men on the back platform of street cars. Curiosity led me across the bridge at the evening rush hour. I did not see any woman taking advantage of the privilege and was a little pleased. But a conductor spoiled the effect when I asked him if many of the female passengers smoked on the cars. "Naw," he said, "they wait until they get home."

Reading over that I am conscious of striving for an effect. The conductor did not say "Naw." What he actually said was, "No, sir, they usually wait until they reach home."

Try This Today For Bad Breath

Now that every thinking person in town has on hand a bottle of Kojene, the safe and delightful antiseptic, we want them to know that it will banish bad breath—no matter what the cause.

Put a teaspoonful in a glass of water—rinse the mouth and gargle the throat with half of it—then drink the balance.

Do this night and morning.

Many times bad breath comes from the stomach and Kojene, the powerful yet harmless antiseptic, will purify it and quickly make it sweet and clean.

Kojene is having a sensational sale the country over because it is a real antiseptic.

As an antiseptic, it is four times as powerful as carbolic acid and much more powerful that Bicloride of Mercury.

And to those people who are using ordinary washes that were good thirty years ago, let us say that Kojene is seventy-five times more powerful than these old timers and a 60 cent bottle will make half a gallon of a supremely efficient mouth wash—60 cents at Jesse D. Hollaway and Mathews Cut Rate Store and druggists all over America.

Do This After Severe Illness

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well — everybody knows that.

But nobody wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Carnahan's and Mathew's Medicine store or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Making American Dry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The people of the United States, although expecting the Prohibition Enforcement Act, were not prepared for it. The government was not prepared for it, and the law-breaker was not prepared for it. In fact no one could see what it was going to lead to.

When the United States became temporarily dry July 1st, 1919 and permanently dry, January 16th, 1920, liquor, as it had been known, was comparatively scarce; many who craved their liquor took it while holding their noses, drinking disgusting stuff that smelled bad, tasted worse and had a terrible effect.

This sort of thing persisted until the bootleggers realized what it was all about. There then arose those great illegal corporations which were organized to pour a flood of contrabrand liquor, supposedly good, into the United States. The rise of these organizations brought millions of cases of doubtful brands into the country. This raw liquor came from rum runners on the three coasts and across the borders, its purveyors eluding government authorities and scampering back to safety.

The stream of supply naturally gravitated to those points which led to the greatest markets, and Rum Row off the coast of New Jersey and New York sprang into prominence. Off Miami the "rummies" plied their trade, delivering Cuban liquor to wealthy winterers in Florida. From Mobile to New Orlean the rum fleet landed its goods to be carried up the Mississippi valley in automobiles and distributed from Memphis, St. Louis and other points.

From El Paso there were run two caravans of automobiles, one traveling northeast and the other north; one seeking St. Louis and the other Denver and Cheyenne. The rummies sailed along the California coast near Los Angeles and San Francisco while up at Portland and Puget Sound the liquor forces attacked the dry defences.

There was not much activity along the western Canadian border, since the vast expanse from the Pacific to Lake Superior did not overlook a flourishing market, but on the lakes the business thrived.

Canadian Beer Favored.

Detroit was one of the sore spots. Canadian beer and ale were sent into the United States in such quantities that one estimate declared that more than 3,000,000 gallons came across during 1924. The Canadian border, from the St. Lawrence to Lake Champlain, was the worst stretch of land border. From Canada the bootlegger poured a stream of liquor toward New York, Boston, Buf-

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1925.

Make Play Safe For Children

The recreation and health committee of the City Federation of Women's clubs today appealed to mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters for their support tomorrow in a campaign to make play safe for the children of East Liverpool.

Under the direction of Mrs. John T. Bowers, chairman of the committee, club women and high school girls will sell souvenirs on streets and the East End circus grounds as a means of raising funds to maintain the municipal playground during the summer.

The response to the appeal shall determine the interest of the people in wholesome outdoor exercise for Young America as well as their desire to safeguard little John and Mary from the perils of traffic when the streets are used as play centers.

Approximately $1,200 is needed to maintain the recreation lot, which has been sponsored by the Club Federation for many years. Part of this fund will be expended for salaries for two supervisors, under whose direction all activities are to be conducted, while the remainder will be invested in new equipment, etc.

Through supervised play, the automobile death toll among children is being decreased. Recent reports show that nearly 19,000 lives are exacted annually by motor vehicles. In Ohio, the death toll in traffic accidents is near 800 a year.

Help safeguard children from the dangers of play in the public highways. Contribute your dollars and cents for the maintenance of supervised recreation. Buy playlot souvenirs tomorrow.

Hats In South Africa

The Basuto warriors who recently honored the Prince of Wales by appearing before him in native costume set off by European hats no doubt presented a somewhat awesome spectacle. Derby hats, black and brown, caps, military busbies, opera hats and one academic mortar board comprised the astonishing array of headgear of the chiefs and their followers. At the conclusion of the formal ceremonies the prince presented his loyal Basuto friends with walking sticks which will undoubtedly be carried by these warriors or their children at the next royal levee.

It would be rather interesting to know the history of those hats and caps. Were some of them given in exchange for far more valuable articles, such as ivory? Had they been distributed by missionaries or traders? Most of the hats were reported as looking as if they had seen better days. How many native parades and ceremonials had they witnessed, and how had they been allotted among the various social groups of the tribes?

The wearing of derby, battered cap, mortar board or opera hat in any civilized community certainly reveals something of the possessor's business or character. What about it in South Africa?

Monument to Tom and Huck

A monument is to be built in Hannibal, Mo., to Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. It will stand on Cardiff Hill, at the head of one of the principal business streets—a place often mentioned in Mark Twain's chronicles.

Tom and Huck deserve a monument, if any kids ever did, even though some finicky folk may say that the author's books are sufficient for the purpose. Well done in marble, without too much polish and refinement, in a pose and finish suggesting the ingenious and lovable deviltries of those immortal scalawags, they would be a notable addition to the glories of Hannibal, and an added attraction to visitors, even if not pointing any useful moral such as one commonly associates with memorial sculpture.

But if we are going to start building monuments to literary creations, where will this thing end? We shall have Dickens' and Cooper's and Bret Harte's and O. Henry's heroes materialized in marble, and shafts rising everywhere to characters which never existed except in the mind of genius.

That may be all right, though. Perhaps the children of imagination, as portrayed by masters, are the most real and enduring of all. The poets themselves were real enough, or seemed so when they walked about and spoke, ate, worked and slept like other folk. But Homer, Virgil, Dante and Shakespeare are now only vague traditions, while the gods and men they dreamed and sung of are still living and vital, like familiar friends that one doesn't take the trouble to visit.

Cultured Sailors

Sailors are demanding books, especially on the Great Lakes. So the American Merchant Marine Library Association is raising a collection of 10,000 volumes for them to while away their leisure time with this season.

What kind of books? There is a surprising demand for good literature, for solid works of history and economics, and especially for scientific works along many lines.

It is not exactly a case of old-fashioned sailors acquiring literary tastes but of the type of sailors changing. The "grizzled and blasphemous sea dog" of fiction is said to have given place to the student-athlete from high school or college, aiming to become an engineer or pilot, or working through the summer for money to carry on his school studies in the fall. The books are "as much a part of the ship as the mess table." The crew has plenty of time off, under the present rules, and little occasion or desire to waste it. "They just knock off and go below and read."

All this is reassuring. When a boy "runs away to sea" nowdays, it will have to be assumed that he has gone in quest of a good education.

RUSSELL SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

Suspended Dry Chief Denies Liquor Conspiracy.

CLEVELAND, June 4.—Joshua E. Russell, 58, suspended prohibition director of Ohio, on trial in federal district court here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, through the release of vast quantities of whisky through the Armand Drug & Candy company of Cleveland, to northern Ohio bootleggers, took the stand as a witness in his own defense shortly before noon today.

Russell, self-possessed and ready with his answers, denied all the charges made against him by government witnesses.

He specifically denied that he had ever known Abe Ungerleider, Columbus broker and star government witness, or ever seen him until Ungerleider took the stand as a government witness Monday. He asserted that he had never had any dealings with any of his 10 fellow defendants in connection with the release of liquor.

These interesting suggestions might lead to the organization of human society along the lines of insect society, in bee hives and ant hills.

The repeated barking of the guns punctured by the screams of the one little girl who escaped into the ward, attracted a great throng of people to the immediate vicinity.

Excitement ran high.

Persons in the crowd which gathered near the home of tragedy, before the police arrived, were fearful to enter and stood by outside, as the firing continued.

With the arrival of the auto load of police, however, the fears of the crowd passed and the officers, with guns drawn, closed in on the house and entered the death room.

No more shooting followed and a feeling of relief swept the vast throng.

After the madman had been rendered powerless, the bodies were removed to an undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held.

Man Insane, Police Believe.

Police said there was no doubt that Russell was stark mad.

His countenance plainly revealed a very serious mental state. They said he had not been drinking and attributed his sudden insanity and mad lust for blood to the intense heat.

Russell was not content with shooting his victims once. The bullet-riddled bodies were mute evidence of his viciousness.

Five bullets plowed through the body of one of the children.

The mother, who was shot as she lay asleep in her bed, was the first victim selected by the heat-crazed murderer.

Little Dorothy, the niece of the madman, is the only one who can tell just what happened when the gun began to bark. She is suffering from a terrific shock and, when she does talk, lisps an incoherent story. Kindly disposed neighbors are caring for the little girl and will question her when she is more composed, in the presence of the coroner and other authorities.

First Shot Awakens Household.

According to the story of the shooting as pieced together by police, Russell worked his way through the house almost methodically. The first bullet which killed his mother as she slept awakened the entire house. The three-month old baby was frightened and cried. The other children fled, trying to hide.

The crying of the infant annoyed Russell. He went to the cradle and placed a pistol against the baby's head, firing three times. When a sound attracted his attention, he whirled around in time to see Robert, 8, trying to creep from the room unnoticed. Five shots ended his flight abruptly.

Paul Louis, 3, had run to his grandmother. Five shots pierced his little body as he pulled at her hand, attempting to awaken her.

Then dashing into an adjoining room, Russell found his brother sitting erect in bed. The position of the body indicated this. The madman pumped 10 shots into him. Two other bullets were for the slayer's sister-in-law. Neither was given a chance to get out of bed.

Reloads His Weapons.

There were three girls left. Russell reloaded his weapons and crept downstairs. Two of the girls, Julia and Grace, were struggling to open the kitchen door. It stuck. As the girls cowered against the door screaming, Russell shot them both between the eyes and then emptied his pistols into their bodies.

After that the slayer saw little Dorothy running across the lawn toward a neighbor's house. As he fired at the girl, Dorothy fell, but she had only fainted.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Little hope for immediate relief from the heat wave that has prevailed since Sunday was in store today. The weather bureau announced the temperature would remain high for the next two days.

The heat was accountable for three deaths in Chicago, among them R. M. Browner, of Rochester, N. Y., who was stricken at the Congress hotel, where he was a guest.

In several sections of the middle west the heat wave brought violent damaging rains and wind storms of tornado proportions. Many persons were killed in the storm. In the region around Minneapolis six deaths were reported. In Iowa eight have been killed since Monday by the storms that accompanied the high temperature. In Nebraska four persons met deaths in small tornadoes.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market was irregular in the early trading today, with the preponderance of price changes downward. Profit taking and short selling in the high priced industrial and some of the motor shares resulted in the crowding of selling orders, which were absorbed only at concessions of from 1 to 3 points from the previous closing level.

Removal of the Maxwell motor undeposited stocks from the list by the business committee of the stock exchange brought to a close the spectacular market career of a security in which there was a growing fear of a corner. No announcement was made as to the adjustments of the short interest in the stock, if any exists, but demand fell off for the certificates of the deposited stock, which were unusually inactive and slightly reactionary. Mack Trucks declined moredately, as also did Packard, Hudson and other motor shares which furnished most of Wednesday's market activity.

June, and the Telephone

ROMANTIC June, with its weddings and graduations, brings many urgings to the American heart to be off to some distant place.

Why not go, when the campus calls to the colors, when sons and daughters want your presence at commencements, when you feel the stir to be somewhere else, as audience or actor?

With long distance to serve, you can be wherever you want to be. There are 16,000,000 telephones in the nation-wide communications service built for your use. One of them is always near to send back decisions and desires to home or office, or carry words of love or greeting to places that call your thoughts.

The romance of life is in the air, and the great romance of modern days---universal telephone service---is yours to further it.

The public is always welcome to visit any Bell exchange, to see how the calls are handled, and have all the operating details explained by employees.

LOST—$33,000

The carpenters, by their strike, have already lost about $33,000 in wages.

Each man loses $10 a day. That's $270 of loss so far for each man.

All for a dollar a day!

It would take that extra dollar 270 days—49 weeks—almost a year—to make up for the money the men have already lost.

It would be the middle of next May before the men recovered that money.

And the agreement the union is striking for does not last until the middle of next May. It expires next April 30.

How can a man win that way?

The contractors have been, and are, willing to submit the whole case to arbitration. If the union would do the same, the strike might be speedily settled.

RUSSELL SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

Suspended Dry Chief Denies Liquor Conspiracy.

CLEVELAND, June 4.—Joshua E. Russell, 58, suspended prohibition director of Ohio, on trial in federal district court here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, through the release of vast quantities of whisky through the Armand Drug & Candy company of Cleveland, to northern Ohio bootleggers, took the stand as a witness in his own defense shortly before noon today.

Russell, self-possessed and ready with his answers, denied all the charges made against him by government witnesses.

He specifically denied that he had ever known Abe Ungerleider, Columbus broker and star government witness, or ever seen him until Ungerleider took the stand as a government witness Monday. He asserted that he had never had any dealings with any of his 10 fellow defendants in connection with the release of liquor.

These interesting suggestions might lead to the organization of human society along the lines of insect society, in bee hives and ant hills.

June, and the Telephone

ROMANTIC June, with its weddings and graduations, brings many urgings to the American heart to be off to some distant place.

Why not go, when the campus calls to the colors, when sons and daughters want your presence at commencements, when you feel the stir to be somewhere else, as audience or actor?

With long distance to serve, you can be wherever you want to be. There are 16,000,000 telephones in the nation-wide communications service built for your use. One of them is always near to send back decisions and desires to home or office, or carry words of love or greeting to places that call your thoughts.

The romance of life is in the air, and the great romance of modern days---universal telephone service---is yours to further it.

The public is always welcome to visit any Bell exchange, to see how the calls are handled, and have all the operating details explained by employees.

"MADE IN THE HOME MADE WAY"

LOST—$33,000

The carpenters, by their strike, have already lost about $33,000 in wages.

Each man loses $10 a day. That's $270 of loss so far for each man.

All for a dollar a day!

It would take that extra dollar 270 days—49 weeks—almost a year—to make up for the money the men have already lost.

It would be the middle of next May before the men recovered that money.

And the agreement the union is striking for does not last until the middle of next May. It expires next April 30.

How can a man win that way?

The contractors have been, and are, willing to submit the whole case to arbitration. If the union would do the same, the strike might be speedily settled.

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her from Sickness to Health

Ellensburg, Washington. — "When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me." — Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Washington.

GASOLINE TAX BILL IS KILLED

Proposal Given Death Blow in House of Delegates.

The 4-cent gasoline tax got its second defeat in the house of delegates yesterday, 43 members voting against it and 39 for it.

The bill was defeated in the house Tuesday, the negative including two members who first voted for it and then changed their votes to the negative to be in a position to move reconsideration yesterday.

Delegate Mathews made the reconsideration motion, which was carried by a vote of 43 to 36.

The question of passing the bill again precipitated a long debate and when it closed the roll call showed some changes from yesteday's standing. In addition to Delegates Andrews and Mathews, who were recorded as voting "no" because of their change of vote, two other members who Tuesday opposed the bill, Delegates Austin and Beard favored it yesterday, explaining that they had been convinced of its necessity.

Delegates Holroyd and Slaughter, who were absent when the vote was taken, also were added to the list in favor of the bill, but to offset these gains, Delegates Penee, Read and Taylor changed from "aye" Tuesday to "no," yesterday, and Delegates Edward and Smith, of Jackson, who voted for the bill Tuesday, were absent yesterday.

The opponents gained the vote of Delegate Stiles, who did not vote, but lost that of Delegate Engle, who was absent.

When it became apparent that the bill was again lost, Delegate Brown moved to postpone the announcement hoping to bring about changes within that time, but that motion was forced to a roll call and lost, 39 to 43, ending the parliamentary jockeying.

When the house took up the gross sales tax bill for consideration on the amendment stage, it showed itself strongly in favor of the two and one-half per cent tax on natural gas, which was one of the features of the house bill.

Austrian Socialists Oppose Building of Clerical University

VIENNA, June — A controversy has arisen because of the determination of the Benedictine monks to build, at Salzburg, an international "collegium" for their students from America, Austria, Bavaria and Switzerland.

The Social Democrats of Austria are bitterly opposing the scheme, because they object to the founding of what they term a "clerical university."

The "collegium" is intended for 120 students, and 50 Benedictine abbeys will jointly defray the cost of building. So far the students have been indebted to the hospitality of other towns.

Enforcing Old Law.

COLUMBUS, May.—Enforcing an apparently forgotten law, enacted by the Ohio legislature about 10 years ago, State Treasurer Day has added $22,289 to the funds in the state treasury. This particular law decrees that, when the state banking department liquidates a bank, or other financial institution, all monies for which there is no claimant, shall become the property of the state and, at the end of five years, after being held in trust, becomes part of the state's general revenue fund, if not claimed. Of the $22,289, $14,789.59 formerly constituted part of the defunct Columbus Savings & Trust company. The balance came from various other financial institutions no more operating.

Kansas has more forest trees today than when the state was founded.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 5

What 'Orange Pekoe' Means

Many buyers of tea have come to ask for 'Orange Pekoe' believing that it signifies fine quality. This is not, however, necessarily the case. In the trade 'Orange Pekoe' is only a name given to the first leaf below the bud or tip on any Indian or Ceylon tea bush. An 'Orange Pekoe' leaf grown at a high elevation usually possesses a very fine flavor. If, however, the plant is grown at a low elevation, it may still be 'Orange Pekoe' but also be of very poor quality. The consumer's only safeguard is to buy a tea of recognized goodness. High grown 'Orange Pekoes' comprise a large part of every blend of "SALADA" and give to "SALADA" its unequalled flavor.

GASOLINE TAX BILL IS KILLED

Proposal Given Death Blow in House of Delegates.

The 4-cent gasoline tax got its second defeat in the house of delegates yesterday, 43 members voting against it and 39 for it.

The bill was defeated in the house Tuesday, the negative including two members who first voted for it and then changed their votes to the negative to be in a position to move reconsideration yesterday.

Delegate Mathews made the reconsideration motion, which was carried by a vote of 43 to 36.

The question of passing the bill again precipitated a long debate and when it closed the roll call showed some changes from yesteday's standing. In addition to Delegates Andrews and Mathews, who were recorded as voting "no" because of their change of vote, two other members who Tuesday opposed the bill, Delegates Austin and Beard favored it yesterday, explaining that they had been convinced of its necessity.

Delegates Holroyd and Slaughter, who were absent when the vote was taken, also were added to the list in favor of the bill, but to offset these gains, Delegates Pence, Read and Taylor changed from "aye" Tuesday to "no," yesterday, and Delegates Edward and Smith, of Jackson, who voted for the bill Tuesday, were absent yesterday.

The opponents gained the vote of Delegate Stiles, who did not vote, but lost that of Delegate Engle, who was absent.

When it became apparent that the bill was again lost, Delegate Brown moved to postpone the announcement hoping to bring about changes within that time, but that motion was forced to a roll call and lost, 39 to 43, ending the parliamentary jockeying.

When the house took up the gross sales tax bill for consideration on the amendment stage, it showed itself strongly in favor of the two and one-half per cent tax on natural gas, which was one of the features of the house bill.

That's what happened to Marion Payne, thirty-six, laborer, who calmly walked into the sheriff's office and tried to borrow enough money to purchase three gallons of gasoline. The sheriff informed Payne that he was "broke," but would accommodate him with a night's lodging. Overnight the sheriff discovered that he had a warrant for Payne's arrest on a non-support charge, a warrant that was several months old.

Extra Motor Power with General Cords Explained

Coasting and Running Tests Show Amazing Difference Between Tires

The marked effect different makes of tires have on motor power was shown in General's recent announcements of coasting and running tests.

To understand the reason for the extra motor power demonstrated with the General Cord it must first be understood that all makes of tires absorb a certain amount of motor power. It is internal friction in tires that causes power loss. This varies tremendously according to the amount of internal friction in each.

This internal friction in tires uses up motor power in the same way that friction in the working parts of machinery acts as a drag against power.

Friction is overcome by lubrication. To prevent friction between metal parts a film of oil is used. In the same manner, rubber of the finest grade and in generous quantity is used in the General Cord to keep the cotton plies separated and each cord insulated.

Thus, by a process equivalent to lubrication, General has obtained greater freedom from internal friction, and this is the reason for the extra motor power with the General Cord in comparison with other makes of tires.

Longer Mileage and Low Pressure Due to Less Internal Friction

The extra motor power with the General Cord has an even bigger meaning than the gasoline saving and the longer life of your motor, for that same special feature of construction that accounts for the extra motor power also explains the longer tire mileage—General's greater freedom from internal friction.

Internal friction is the greatest known destroyer of tires. Friction always means wear. And the tire with the least internal friction is naturally the tire that shows the slowest wear, provided this advantage is gained, as it is in the General Cord, without reduction in the number and weight of plies essential to proper construction.

It was General's mastery of internal friction that enabled it to produce, five years ago, the first low-pressure tire ever placed on the market.

Just as today it has enabled General to produce the successful 6-ply balloon cord, to replace 4-ply balloons on all except the smaller cars—combining all balloon advantages with the right strength for the load, as well as reducing balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

The successful use of low pressure depends upon a construction that is able to withstand the heating-up and wearing effect of the increased bending and straining under low pressure.

This shows why General's leadership in low-pressure tires, not only in balloon sizes, but in all Regular sizes, goes hand-in-hand with General's greater freedom from internal friction. It shows also why General has never classified its Regular size cords as "high-pressure" tires.

General Shows How Internal Friction Is Overcome

The process of complete insulation in the General Cord goes beyond the commonly used method of passing cord fabric through a thin solution of gum dissolved in benzol. General's special process, which can only be accomplished by putting the cord plies through large steel calender rollers, gives every ply a heavy coating of finest rubber, uniformly thick, forced between the cords so that each cord is completely surrounded and no two cords can touch. Other important factors in General's friction-eliminating process are the special weave and highest quality of combed cotton, as well as the development of new principles of tire construction throughout.

General Cord Users Enjoyed Low Pressure Before Balloons

General Cord users did not have to wait for balloons in order to enjoy low air pressure.

With experience in low-pressure construction dating back beyond that of any other manufacturer, low pressure in Regular size General Cords had become a well-known feature long before the advent of balloon tires.

In fact, the history of General's development of low pressure is the story of the evolution of the balloon tire.

This is the background that explains General's singular success with low pressure, first with Regular size cords and then with 4-ply and 6-ply balloons.

Low Pressure With Regular Size Tires

Hundreds of thousands of car owners are enjoying the advantages of low pressure without having changed their wheel equipment—they are using General's low-pressure Regular Size Cords.

It was back in 1919 that General produced the first low-pressure tire ever put on the market—the General Jumbo 30 x 3½ Cord requiring only 30 pounds of air. This is the sixth year of low pressure in the General Cord and only such long-standing specialization can explain General's singular success with it in all Regular Size General Cords as well as the Balloons, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will gladly demonstrate the low-pressure advantages of the General Cord for your car.

6-Ply Balloon

General's 4-ply Balloon is the practical equipment for the smaller cars. For the heavier cars the 6-ply Balloon has greater thickness to carry the load and still allows the full flexing action over obstructions. At the same time it reduces balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

General's 6-ply Balloon consumes no more power than the average 4-ply balloon because General's greater freedom from internal friction always means power and gasoline saving.

Back of the 6-ply General Balloon is the long-standing experience that has been responsible for General's singular success with low pressure—in all Regular sizes as well as Balloon Cords, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will be glad to explain fully the advantages of the 6-ply General Balloon and discuss with you the proper equipment for your car.

And the tire with the least internal friction is naturally the tire that shows the slowest wear, provided this advantage is gained, as it is in the General Cord, without reduction in the number and weight of plies essential to proper construction.

It was General's mastery of internal friction that enabled it to produce, five years ago, the first low-pressure tire ever placed on the market.

Just as today it has enabled General to produce the successful 6-ply balloon cord, to replace 4-ply balloons on all except the smaller cars—combining all balloon advantages with the right strength for the load, as well as reducing balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

The successful use of low pressure depends upon a construction that is able to withstand the heating-up and wearing effect of the increased bending and straining under low pressure.

This shows why General's leadership in low-pressure tires, not only in balloon sizes, but in all Regular sizes, goes hand-in-hand with General's greater freedom from internal friction. It shows also why General has never classified its Regular size cords as "high-pressure" tires.

General Shows How Internal Friction Is Overcome

The process of complete insulation in the General Cord goes beyond the commonly used method of passing cord fabric through a thin solution of gum dissolved in benzol. General's special process, which can only be accomplished by putting the cord plies through large steel calender rollers, gives every ply a heavy coating of finest rubber, uniformly thick, forced between the cords so that each cord is completely surrounded and no two cords can touch. Other important factors in General's friction-eliminating process are the special weave and highest quality of combed cotton, as well as the development of new principles of tire construction throughout.

General Cord Users Enjoyed Low Pressure Before Balloons

General Cord users did not have to wait for balloons in order to enjoy low air pressure.

With experience in low-pressure construction dating back beyond that of any other manufacturer, low pressure in Regular size General Cords had become a well-known feature long before the advent of balloon tires.

In fact, the history of General's development of low pressure is the story of the evolution of the balloon tire.

This is the background that explains General's singular success with low pressure, first with Regular size cords and then with 4-ply and 6-ply balloons.

Low Pressure With Regular Size Tires

Hundreds of thousands of car owners are enjoying the advantages of low pressure without having changed their wheel equipment—they are using General's low-pressure Regular Size Cords.

It was back in 1919 that General produced the first low-pressure tire ever put on the market — the General Jumbo 30 x 3½ Cord requiring only 30 pounds of air. This is the sixth year of low pressure in the General Cord and only such long-standing specialization can explain General's singular success with it in all Regular Size General Cords as well as the Balloons, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will gladly demonstrate the low-pressure advantages of the General Cord for your car.

6-Ply Balloon

General's 4-ply Balloon is the practical equipment for the smaller cars. For the heavier cars the 6-ply Balloon has greater thickness to carry the load and still allows the full flexing action over obstructions. At the same time it reduces balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

General's 6-ply Balloon consumes no more power than the average 4-ply balloon because General's greater freedom from internal friction always means power and gasoline saving.

Back of the 6-ply General Balloon is the long-standing experience that has been responsible for General's singular success with low pressure—in all Regular sizes as well as Balloon Cords, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will be glad to explain fully the advantages of the 6-ply General Balloon and discuss with you the proper equipment for your car.

falo and the other larger cities of the East.

The United States was a dry continent surrounded by oceans of liquor, which flowed over it. It resembled a marsh more than a continent. The old white stuff had been replaced by uncertain Scotch and dreggy wines, to say nothing of gin, bourbon, cognac, and all the rest.

The government at first was not prepared to meet this flood and dykes had to be built. A treaty was arranged with several nations, among them Great Britain and Germany, whereby the United States was given right so seize any ship carrying contrabrand cargo, within one hour's sailing distance of the American coast, the distance to be determined by the speed of the smuggling ship. This, of course, was subject to the circumstance that the ship had established contact with American subjects or American property. Unless this occurred the smuggler might sail to a point just outside the thre-mile limit and remain safe from American authorities. If, however, he established contact with the United States in any way, wthin one hour's sailing distance, the Coast Guard ships might pursue him to the remote corners of the seas and seize him, provided he did not cast anchor in an alien port. This treaty was an important step.

But even this did not stop the rummies. They lay off New York the greatest market, and continually sent their goods into the country. Then the Sixty-eighth Congress appropriated more than $12,200,000 to be used in building and refitting ships with which the Coast Guard might combat the liquor fleet.

When the Coast Guard declared war, such as the rummies had not before experienced, it sent into the field a force consisting of 321 cruising and harbor cutters, destroyers and patrol boats and many smaller craft, manned by 8,000 enlisted men, 300 commissioned officers and 700 warrant officers. This is twice the normal strength of the Coast Guard and the maximum has not been reached yet. There are many more boats to be constructed.

This force struck at the strategic position of the rum fleet off New York and smashed it. The rum runners fled, or, if they stayed, were surrounded by Coast Guard ships that watched their every movement. A recent report says that 28 ships were taking refuge in Halifax, while many have fled to the Bahamas or to other waters. Some are moving South to other fields of activity and some are landing their wares, but the blow was staggering and this warfare will continue until the rum fleet becomes non-existent.

Pitched Battles Fought.

There have been pitched battles in this war. The guard so far has lost but one man, who was killed off the Connecticut coast. Only a few have been wounded. There have been spirited fights in Puget Sound where the rummies put up a hard resistance, but the Guard broke their power there too. When pressed too close, the outlaws have been known to turn about and ram the government ship, but not caring much about the outcome, knowing that they were in for it anyway.

During 1924 there were 46,000 boats boarded by the Coast Guard, of which 2,200 were seized, an average of more than six daily. Recently in the New York Customs warehouse alone there were 200,000 gallons of liquor that had been confiscated, and these figures will grow steadily larger as the campaign continues.

The Coast Guard, the deep water service, is the first line of defense. Next is the Customs, along shore and border, and then the prohibition units, which operate within the country. All three are a part of the Treasury department and are under the supervision of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, L. S. Andrews.

Negotiations now under way for a treaty with Mexico, whereby the United States will receive information from the Mexican authorities concerning smuggling in return for similar information from this country. A like treaty is now pending between Canada and the United States.

Fortified by these two treaties, and additional money and equipment, the enforcement agents should reduce the smugging problem to the minimum. The dry defense lines up like this: nine Coast Guard bases on the Atlantic Coast at Boston, Gloucester, Mass., New London, Conn., Grenport, N. Y., Staten Island, N. Y., Atlantic City, Cape May, N. J., Norfolk, Va.; and Miami, Fla.; one on the Gulf Coast at Biloxi, Miss., and four on the Pacific coast—one at San Francisco and three on Puget Sound. These bases are separate units and are much the same as division headquarters would be in the Army in time of war. Their forces patrol their territorial waters and form a ring of steel around the coasts. There are about 75 customs ports of entry on the Canadian These correspond to the Coast Guard border, and 20 on the Mexican border bases on the sea as far as the dry defense is concerned.

This increased activity is bearing fruit. The Customs has not as yet received as much money as the Coast Guard, and neither have the prohibition units. All around, however, there is a distinct stiffening in the resistence against the wet invasion. Since the territories present a small problem the whole strength will be used in protecting the borders of the United States. When the Customs and Prohibition Units receive corresponding appropriations, and the full strength of enforcement is thrown against the liquor forces, it that bootleggers will become carious as counterfeiting.

Fortified by these two treaties, and additional money and equipment, the enforcement agents should reduce the smugging problem to the minimum. The dry defense lines up like this: nine Coast Guard bases on the Atlantic Coast at Boston, Gloucester, Mass., New London, Conn., Grenport, N. Y., Staten Island, N. Y., Atlantic City, Cape May, N. J., Norfolk, Va.; and Miami, Fla.; one on the Gulf Coast at Biloxi, Miss., and four on the Pacific coast—one at San Francisco and three on Puget Sound. These bases are separate units and are much the same as division headquarters would be in the Army in time of war. Their forces patrol their territorial waters and form a ring of steel around the coasts. There are about 75 customs ports of entry on the Canadian These correspond to the Coast Guard border, and 20 on the Mexican border bases on the sea as far as the dry defense is concerned.

This increased activity is bearing fruit. The Customs has not as yet received as much money as the Coast Guard, and neither have the prohibition units. All around, however, there is a distinct stiffening in the resistence against the wet invasion. Since the territories present a small problem the whole strength will be used in protecting the borders of the United States. When the Customs and Prohibition Units receive corresponding appropriations, and the full strength of enforcement is thrown against the liquor forces, it is said that bootleggers will become as precarious as counterfeiting.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

Question: Why is a Buick so safe and so easy to steer?

Answer: Because of Buick's wonderful steering mechanism. It is the most expensive type now installed on any motor car—and worth the difference because it adds to Buick performance still another point of superiority.

Allison Announces Roster of City's 'Big League' Cage Team

Sends Contracts to Seven Eastern Stars For Opening Season

Entire Pottsville, Pa., Squad, Which Two Years Ago, Playing Under Trenton, N. J., Colors, Led the Eastern Basketball League, Will Make Headquarters Here This Winter, Sports Promoter Asserts.

Frank D. Allison, sponsor of the East Liverpool entry in the American Basketball league, today announced the asquisition of seven eastern cage stars of national prominence who will represent the Ceramic city in the new major court circuit. The netire squad was rounded up and herded into the East Liverpool corral barely three days after President Joe Carr, of Columbus, had notified Allison to go ahead with plans for the city's part in the league.

Here is the squad: Louis Sugarman, Philadelphia; Edward Kearns, Trenton, N. J.; Thomas Barlow, Trenton; Maurice Tome, Trenton; Jerry Sullivan, New York; Charles M. Wallace, Middletown, Pa.; and Charles Glasco, New York.

Last year this outfit, which has been operating on eastern courts for four years as members of the same team, sent Pottsville, Pa., to the basketball pinnacle in the east.

Two years ago, Allison asserts, this particular crew, playing for Trenton, N. J., won the eastern league championship.

Contracts for the seven men were signed here yesterday, at a conference of local sports backers, by Allison and Louis Sugarman. The prowess of Sugarman on the courts is probably better known here than that of other members of the crew. He is a Philadelphia dentist, but devotes several months in the winter to basketball.

It became known at yesterday's conference here that at least three members of this squad have already been approached by other teams in the American Basketball league, proffers having came from Fort Wayne, Ind., Chicago and the Cleveland Rosenblums.

The team, however, has been playing together, and the respective members expressed a desire to continue as mates for the coming season. East Liverpool was the only city in the American loop open for an entire squad. As a result the eastern stars took up Allison's offer.

The record of the club signed by Allison includes victories over the Rosenblums, Kingston, N. Y., and the Celtics, among others.

THEY FACE EACH OTHER IN FIRST BIG HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE

By Norman E. Brown.

These two huskies, Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tuney, meet June 5 at the Polo grounds, New York city, in the first of the big outdoor season heavyweight bouts. Gibbons must turn back the younger Tunney to remain a real contender for Dempsey's crown. A victory for Tunney, youthful and ambitious, will start him on the road to more big battles and a possible crack at the champion. Gibbons' experience, ring generalship and short body punch are in his favor. Tunney faces these with youth, stamina, considerable skill and a stiff wallop in either hand.

RING FOX WILL BECOME TIGER FRIDAY NIGHT

Gibbons Steps out of Character for Tunney Battle.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Can a fox turn tiger?

In the main, that is one of those questions you answer by asking another: Why do hens eat garlic? Usually they don't.

The writer, however, witnessed something of a transition from the fox to the tiger on a certain evening last December when Tom Gibbons, clever to the point of being downright unpleasant about it and usually about as vicious as a head waiter, was hit low several times in succession by Kid Norfolk.

Gibbons stepped right out of character and forgot to be the fox who baffles the pursuer. He suddenly wanted to be the Tiger who pursues and kills and he was. He knocked Norfolk over in a few punches.

The same Gibbons declared today at his Coney Island training camp that he intends to fight Gene Tunney the same way for 15 rounds or less, tomorrow night as he did Kid Norfolk for 15 seconds or more last December.

He plans to forsake the habit of a life time and go after Tunney from the time of the first bell.

"I plan to carry the fight to Tunney from first to last," Gibbons said. "They have called me a safety-first boxer. Perhaps they will call me something else after tomorrow night."

Gibbons was as serious as rat poison, his almost habitually pleasant face grim, his eyes snapping sparks. He is in wonderful physical condition, better than he was for Dempsey at Shelby.

"They tell me that Tunney has the same idea," the writer interposed.

"Fine," came the reply on the split-second. "That will make a real fight of it."

But Gibbons really has slight faith in Tunney's alleged reformation. He proved that a moment later.

"I expect to have to carry the fight to Tunney," he declared. "From what I have seen and heard, I think he will fight a defensive battle. Well, I'll fool them and him if they expect me to follow suit."

"Don't you fear Tunney's punch, then?" I asked.

No, it seemed not.

"That is," he added, hastily, "not in the way I would fear Dempsey's or Wills'. But I respect Tunney's hitting just as I would any man's. I'm not going in there swinging with my guard down."

Gibbons was about to indulge in his final workout for the meeting, a series of light exercises lasting less than a half hour. A short walk tomorrow, the weighting in ceremonies and then the long tedious wait for the bell.

Betting today was even, the public having no definite choice for the winner. The loser, in fact, probably will be the man who thinks he is justified in giving odds, either way.

NEW OPEN GOLF CHAMP LOOMS

Diegel and MacFarlane Lead Field in National Play.

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 4.—A new golfer will be crowned open champion of the United States before nightfall, it seemed certain today as the field swung into the concluding 36 holes, on the Worcester Country club course.

The early favorites, MacDonald Smith, Bobby Jones, the amateur champion, and Walter Hagen, are not yet out of it, but their position is precarious, and there was plenty of money to be had around the starting tee this morning that this most feared trio will not be in at the killing of the goose.

Leo Diegel and Willie MacFarlane lead the field, tied at 141. They played super-brilliant golf yesterday and unless they crack today under the merciless sun they should come down the stretch neck and neck.

Behind this leading pair are a quartet of dangerous shotmakers, including two men who have known what it is to wear the open champion's crown. Francis Gallet, of Milwaukee, Al Espinosa, of Glencoe, and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, are bunched at 143, two strokes behind Diegel and MacFarlane, and only a stroke worse, at 144, is Gene Sarazen. Ouimet won the open in 1913 and Sarazen at Skokie two years ago.

Jones, with 147, is six strokes behind the leaders, and Hagen with 148, seven strokes in the rear. If any of the half dozen men ahead of them shoot to their yesterday's form it bodes ill for these grand golfers. Mac Smith's golf has been disappointing to his many backers. He had 73 and 79 yesterday for a sloppy 152.

Cyril Walker, the present champion, has faded from the picture, an 81 on his opening round did the business, and not even a snappy 73 later could undo the mischief.

As the field went into the stretch today, any of the 12 leaders had a chance at the prize. They stood this morning:

Leo Diegel, Glen Oaks	73	68	141
Willie MacFarlane, Oak Ridge	74	67	141
Francis Gallet, Milwaukee	73	70	143
Al Espinosa, Chicago	72	71	143
Francis Ouimet, Boston	70	73	143
Gene Sarazen, New York	72	72	144
J. Farrell, New York	71	74	145
Laurie Ayton, Chicago	75	71	146
Mike Brady, New York	74	72	146

Yost Loses Both Grid Guards But One May Aid Him as Coach

HAROLD O. STEELE

EDUFF SLAUGHTER

Yost's two guards of 1924, Edliff Slaughter, Michigan's All-American star last season, and Harold O. Steele, Slaughter's running mate for three seasons, have completed their years of collegiate participation. Slaughter is considering an offer from Wisconsin to help Coach George Little, his former mentor at Michigan, coach the line of the 1925 Badger team. Steele will remain in Ann Arbor as an assistant to Yost.

Tagging The Bases

The Red Sox made four runs or four hits, the Athletics two runs on nine hits. And that's an excellent way to win and lose a ball game. Ehmke turned in his first Boston victory of the season.

Ring sent the Phils into the west a first division proposition by pitching the Braves out of a 5 to 4 decision, the Bancroft entry being helpless until the eighth inning.

Bob Meusel's fifth home run within a week staked the Yankees to their second successive victory over the Senators in a twelfth inning finish, 6 to 4. Shanks' homer tied the score in the ninth.

The Browns made it three straight over the Indians by clubbing their way through Shaute, Roy and Buckeye to a 7 to 6 verdict.

Hornby's hammering henchmen made it four straight over the Reds, 7 to 3, and kept the new manager's record clean. Dickerman held the Reds to four hits.

RUTH MAY OUTLAST OLD MATES

Faces Longer Career Than Majority of Former Red Sox Stars.

NEW YORK, June 4.—In spite of his rather carefree mode of living, it is beginning to appear as though Babe Ruth will outlast the few survivors of the 1915-16 Boston Red Sox now remaining in the major leagues. Ruth faces at least five years of further service on the big time, provided he takes even nominal care of the excellent body with which heredity and circumstance endowed him.

It is extremely doubtful if the rest of the old Red Sox in the major leagues at present — Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper, Everett Scott, Carl Mays and Dutch Leonard—will be actively identified with big league baseball in 1930. Most of them are near the end of their tether now.

Tris Is Old.

Speaker is hitting with his old fervor and can race back to get them with the next; but Tris is nearly 40 and the gray of his temples is not altogether premature. There have been telltale signs for several years of Speaker's retrogression as a ball player.

Hooper sat on the bench when the White Sox opened the 1925 season, but managed to work his way back into the lineup and, at the moment, is doing well. He, however, escaped from Boston a few years ago only because the Red Sox thought he was passe. Therefore, the end cannot be far away.

Scott's impending withdrawal was forecast early this season when Miller Huggins was forced to bench him. Scott is one of the youngest of the ex-champions in point of service, but didn't wear as well as some of the others, probably because of his record of nearly nine years of consecutive play.

Mays Slipping.

Another fairly youthful member of the old outfit is Carl Mays, who, like Scott, is beginning to run down. Mays was let out by the Yanks after a bad season in 1923, but came back remarkably with the Reds last year. His arm hangs useless now and the Reds are merely tolerating him because they hope it may come around, if only temporarily.

With his underhand style of pitching, it is difficult to imagine Mays as a major league pitcher five years from now.

Neither can much hope be held out for Leonard, although the left hander is doing reasonably well with the Tigers. He dropped out of baseball, however, for several seasons and the let up seemed to impair his efficiency. Leonard is not nearly the pitcher he was in 1918, and another season or two should see the last of him.

Five thumbed outfielding, plus a hitting rampage, helped the White Sox to a 12 to 7 victory over the Tigers.

SPORT SPARKS

For the first time in many years Philadelphia fans can now back up their baseball chatter with something more than optimism. Just now the Standing of the Clubs is more important than the Social Register to the Slowtown boys.

Supporters of the New York Yankees have adopted the slogan: "Throw your raspberries while you may; the Yanks will be in the first division tomorrow."

If the Pittsburgh players could field as well as they bat the club would be on the heels of the league leaders. Seems as if the Pirates always make errors at the most untimely moments.

Earl Smith has committed some of the most atrocious of Pittsburgh's errors, but at the bat he has been shining like the well-known candle in the corner. In public esteem ballplayers are like boxers—anything will be forgiven if they have the old wallop.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn appear to be the only clubs capable of stopping the Giants. If the western clubs fail to shoot the New Yorkers full of holes during the swing around the western circuit, the pennant race will be sewed up by mid-summer, and the one sided contest will produce an alarming deficit in gate receipts.

Gibbons must turn back the younger Tunney to remain a real contender for Dempsey's crown. A victory for Tunney, youthful and ambitious, will start him on the road to more big battles and a possible crack at the champion. Gibbons' experience, ring generalship and short body punch are in his favor. Tunney faces these with youth, stamina, considerable skill and a stiff wallop in either hand.

RING FOX WILL BECOME TIGER FRIDAY NIGHT

Gibbons Steps out of Character for Tunney Battle.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Can a fox turn tiger?

In the main, that is one of those questions you answer by asking another: Why do hens eat garlic? Usually they don't.

The writer, however, witnessed something of a transition from the fox to the tiger on a certain evening last December when Tom Gibbons, clever to the point of being downright unpleasant about it and usually about as vicious as a head waiter, was hit low several times in succession by Kid Norfolk.

Gibbons stepped right out of character and forgot to be the fox who baffles the pursuer. He suddenly wanted to be the Tiger who pursues and kills and he was. He knocked Norfolk over in a few punches.

The same Gibbons declared today at his Coney Island training camp that he intends to fight Gene Tunney the same way for 15 rounds or less, tomorrow night as he did Kid Norfolk for 15 seconds or more last December.

He plans to forsake the habit of a life time and go after Tunney from the time of the first bell.

"I plan to carry the fight to Tunney from first to last," Gibbons said. "They have called me a safety-first boxer. Perhaps they will call me something else after tomorrow night."

Gibbons was as serious as rat poison, his almost habitually pleasant face grim, his eyes snapping sparks. He is in wonderful physical condition, better than he was for Dempsey at Shelby.

"They tell me that Tunney has the same idea," the writer interposed.

"Fine," came the reply on the split-second. "That will make a real fight of it."

But Gibbons really has slight faith in Tunney's alleged reformation. He proved that a moment later.

"I expect to have to carry the fight to Tunney," he declared. "From what I have seen and heard, I think he will fight a defensive battle. Well, I'll fool them and him if they expect me to follow suit."

"Don't you fear Tunney's punch, then?" I asked.

No, it seemed not.

"That is," he added, hastily, "not in the way I would fear Dempsey's or Willis'. But I respect Tunney's hitting just as I would any man's. I'm not going in there swinging with my guard down."

Gibbons was about to indulge in his final workout for the meeting, a series of light exercises lasting less than a half hour. A short walk tomorrow, the weighting in ceremonies and then the long tedious wait for the bell.

Betting today was even, the public having no definite choice for the winner. The loser, in fact, probably will be the man who thinks he is justified in giving odds, either way.

NEW OPEN GOLF CHAMP LOOMS

Diegel and MacFarlane Lead Field in National Play.

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 4.—A new golfer will be crowned open champion of the United States before nightfall, it seemed certain today as the field swung into the concluding 36 holes, on the Worcester Country club course.

The early favorites, MacDonald Smith, Bobby Jones, the amateur champion, and Walter Hagen, are not yet out of it, but their position is precarious, and there was plenty of money to be had around the starting tee this morning that this most feared trio will not be in at the killing of the goose.

Leo Diegel and Willie MacFarlane lead the field, tied at 141. They played super-brilliant golf yesterday and unless they crack today under the merciless sun they should come down the stretch neck and neck.

Behind this leading pair are a quartet of dangerous shotmakers, including two men who have known what it is to wear the open champion's crown. Francis Gallet, of Milwaukee, Al Espinosa, of Glencoe, and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, are bunched at 143, two strokes behind Diegel and MacFarlane, and only a stroke worse, at 144, is Gene Sarazen. Ouimet won the open in 1913 and Sarazen at Skokie two years ago.

Jones, with 147, is six strokes behind the leaders, and Hagen with 148, seven strokes in the rear. If any of the half dozen men ahead of them shoot to their yesterday's form it bodes ill for these grand golfers. Mac Smith's golf has been disappointing to his many backers. He had 73 and 79 yesterday for a sloppy 152.

Cyril Walker, the present champion, has faded from the picture, an 81 on his opening round did the business, and not even a snappy 73 later could undo the mischief.

As the field went into the stretch today, any of the 12 leaders had a chance at the prize. They stood this morning:

Leo Diegel, Glen Oaks	73	68	141
Willie MacFarlane, Oak Ridge	74	67	141
Francis Gallet, Milwaukee	73	70	143
Al Espinosa, Chicago	72	71	143
Francis Ouimet, Boston	70	73	143
Gene Sarazen, New York	72	72	144
J. Farrell, New York	71	74	145
Laurie Ayton, Chicago	75	71	146
Mike Brady, New York	74	72	146
J. Forrester, Hollywood	71	76	147
Bobby Jones, Atlanta	77	70	147
Walter Hagen	72	76	148

RUTH MAY OUTLAST OLD MATES

Tagging The Bases

The Red Sox made four runs or four hits, the Athletics two runs on nine hits. And that's an excellent way to win and lose a ball game. Ehmke turned in his first Boston victory of the season.

Ring sent the Phils into the west a first division proposition by pitching the Braves out of a 5 to 4 decision, the Bancroft entry being helpless until the eighth inning.

Bob Meusel's fifth home run within a week staked the Yankees to their second successive victory over the Senators in a twelfth inning finish, 6 to 4. Shanks' homer tied the score in the ninth.

The Browns made it three straight over the Indians by clubbing their way through Shaute, Roy and Buckeye to a 7 to 6 verdict.

Hornby's hammering henchmen made it four straight over the Reds, 7 to 3, and kept the new manager's record clean. Dickerman held the Reds to four hits.

FISH AND GAME MEET TONIGHT

Members of the East Liverpool branch of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in their headquarters in the Fowler building, in the Diamond.

Undoubtedly discussion will center around the annual outing of the county organization which will be held July 22 at Guilford park.

Faces Longer Career Than Majority of Former Red Sox Stars.

NEW YORK, June 4.—In spite of his rather carefree mode of living, it is beginning to appear as though Babe Ruth will outlast the few survivors of the 1915-16 Boston Red Sox now remaining in the major leagues. Ruth faces at least five years of further service on the big time, provided he takes even nominal care of the excellent body with which heredity and circumstance endowed him.

It is extremely doubtful if the rest of the old Red Sox in the major leagues at present — Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper, Everett Scott, Carl Mays and Dutch Leonard—will be actively identified with big league baseball in 1930. Most of them are near the end of their tether now.

Tris Is Old.

Speaker is hitting with his old fervor and can race back to get them with the next; but Tris is nearly 40 and the gray of his temples is not altogether premature. There have been telltale signs for several years of Speaker's retrogression as a ball player.

Hooper sat on the bench when the White Sox opened the 1925 season, but managed to work his way back into the lineup and, at the moment, is doing well. He, however, escaped from Boston a few years ago only because the Red Sox thought he was passe. Therefore, the end cannot be far away.

Scott's impending withdrawal was forecast early this season when Miller Huggins was forced to bench him. Scott is one of the youngest of the ex-champions in point of service, but didn't wear as well as some of the others, probably because of his record of nearly nine years of consecutive play.

Mays Slipping.

Another fairly youthful member of the old outfit is Carl Mays, who, like Scott, is beginning to run down. Mays was let out by the Yanks after a bad season in 1923, but came back remarkably with the Reds last year. His arm hangs useless now and the Reds are merely tolerating him because they hope it may come around, if only temporarily.

With his underhand style of pitching, it is difficult to imagine Mays as a major league pitcher five years from now.

Neither can much hope be held out for Leonard, although the left hander is doing reasonably well with the Tigers. He dropped out of baseball, however, for several seasons and the let up seemed to impair his efficiency. Leonard is not nearly the pitcher he was in 1918, and another season or two should see the last of him.

Five thumbed outfielding, plus a hitting rampage, helped the White Sox to a 12 to 7 victory over the Tigers.

SPORT SPARKS

For the first time in many years Philadelphia fans can now back up their baseball chatter with something more than optimism. Just now the Standing of the Clubs is more important than the Social Register to the Slowtown boys.

Supporters of the New York Yankees have adopted the slogan: "Throw your raspberries while you may; the Yanks will be in the first division tomorrow."

If the Pittsburgh players could field as well as they bat the club would be on the heels of the league leaders. Seems as if the Pirates always make errors at the most untimely moments.

Earl Smith has committed some of the most atrocious of Pittsburgh's errors, but at the bat he has been shining like the well-known candle in the corner. In public esteem ballplayers are like boxers—anything will be forgiven if they have the old wallop.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn appear to be the only clubs capable of stopping the Giants. If the western clubs fail to shoot the New Yorkers full of holes during the swing around the western circuit, the pennant race will be sewed up by mid-summer, and the one-sided contest will produce an alarming deficit in gate receipts.

HOUSE PETERS IN BIG FILM

"The Tornado" Comes to Ceramic Theatre Thursday.

House Peters, whose appearances on the screen have been regretably few since his great successes in "The Storm" and "Human Hearts," will show conclusively in the Ceramic theater tomorrow night that he has lost none of that vigor of personality and dramatic ability which made him famous as a motion picture star.

Peters plays the name part in "The Tornado," Universal-Jewel, adapted from Lincoln J. Carter's famous play, which, on its first screening, lived up to the promises of the advance notices acclaiming it one of the biggest dramas ever made for the screen.

Fortunately most persons have been spared the experiences depicted so convincingly in "The Tornado," but all who read know that towns have been swept away in floods and destroyed by hurricanes, and that bridges have collapsed carrying down with them the train that was crossing.

But, while "The Tornado" primarily is a series of spectacular hazards and destruction, it is far from being devoid of a dramatic story, and ample opportunity is afforded for the star and those prominently cast in the picture to utilize their histronic talents.

King Baggot, who directed "Human Hearts" and a number of other big Universal pictures, made this impressive production.

Rain Falls, Corn Drops.
A Very Old Grapolite.
Britain Discusses Food.
On Birth Control.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

It has been raining in the corn belt, and that has cheered the farmers. The corn suffered from lack of rain.

Yesterday the price of corn fell more than five cents a bushel, December corn dropping from 98½ to 93 cents. The weather does something to cheer up the farmer, and then the grain speculators to cheer him down again. Don't envy farmers.

A charming young woman, told by a learned friend that on another planet the year is 50 years long, exclaimed: "Really, Willyum, how old must they be?"

You ask, "How old must this earth be?" when you read of Dr. Reed's graptolite of the clemacograpus family, found with numerous paleozoic fossils in a great Virginia cave. Dr. Reed says his graptolite lived and raised a family on this earth 500 million years ago.

That almost makes you shiver, and yet it is comforting. It makes you believe scientists who tell you this earth will last, with human beings on it, at least two or three hundred million years longer. We ought to accomplish something in that time.

Great Britain, seeking a cure for socialism, will set up a "food commission." The job of this commission will be to establish "a permanent check on food prices and supplies."

Wise Britons know that the best way to "cure socialism" is to do on a capitalistic basis what socialists promise to do on another basis.

In the days of the kaiser, the Germans showed their wisdom by establishing old age pensions and doing other things that socialism had been promising. That was cutting the ground from under the socialistic brethren, and that is what Britain proposes to do.

The world begins to discuss birth control as a subject that respectable people "may discuss without shame." Even clergymen discuss it. One British bishop, Barnes, of Birmingham, advocates birth control because "human welfare" is menaced by "human fecundity."

Instantly the humble vicar of Brighton, Canon Hicks, says he owes it to himself, his congregation, and human decency to contradict Bishop Barnes.

All good publicity, and that's what birth control advocates want.

The amusing thing is that men think the question should be settled by him. Each man decides how many shops he will run, how many bricks he will lay, how many ems of type he will set, how many factories he will build, etc.

But ninety-nine men out of a hundred are agreed that a woman has no right to decide how many children she shall create, nurse and raise.

Britain's national council of public morals, headed by the bishop of Winchester, urges "a five children standard for British families."

That would please the ghost of Theodore Roosevelt, but he would say "make it 10."

British mothers might organize a national council of family comfort, and say to the council of public morals, "All right, five children if you say so. But be kind enough to see

PURCHASES GAS STATION SITE

Verne Carson Acquires Dresden Avenue Property.

Verne Carson, local representative of the St. Clair Oil company, has purchased from the Burford heirs the three-cornered tract of land in Dresden avenue, north of the Armour & company building, where he plans to erect a modern filling station, it was announced today.

Work on razing the buildings, which includes a two-story frame dwelling and a small store room, will be started as soon as the occupants vacate. The latest type of equipment will be installed, Carson said.

Carson is the owner of the Belleview filling station, which has been opened along the Lincoln highway, north of Stop 55 on the Y. & O. At this station he has installed a 15,000 gallon gasoline storage system, with improved pumps and other equipment. Free air and running water service is available. A ladies' rest room has been installed, making it one of the most complete stations between East Liverpool and Minerva on the Lincoln highway.

Contract for the erection of a modern three-story brick and concrete business block, occupying the northwest corner of Fifth street and Crook alley, and a three-story warehouse of the same type of construction in Diamond street was awarded today by the Milligan Hardware and Supply company to the H. K. Ferguson company, of Cleveland.

Work on the two structures, which will cost about $75,000, will be started as soon as the carpenters' strike in East Liverpool is terminated. The buildings are to be completed within 90 days after work is started, [illegible] secretary-treasurer [illegible] pany, said.

Two Entrances.

The building will be equipped with an up-to-date store front on the Diamond street side as well as the Fifth street side. The latest style steel shelving will be installed, making it fireproof in every respect. An electric Otis passenger and freight elevator is to be installed.

Benedum Is Dems' Candidate For Mayor; Charles Brown Files

Ralph C. Benedum, pharmacist, and candidate for county recorder last fall, will seek the Democratic nomination for mayor at the primary election on Tuesday, August 11. Benedum was endorsed at a meeting of the Democratic central committee and other party leaders, held at the city hall last evening.

Edward L. Green, East End grocer and member of the civil service commission, was endorsed for councilman-at-large. Clyde Goodballet was nominated for First ward councilman. The three candidates have signified their intentions of filing declarations with the election board before the bell rings on Friday, June 12.

A committee of six was named to select candidates for the other municipal offices to be filed at the general election in November, entering them in the primaries. An effort will be made to have a full ticket in the field.

County Chairman John Weaver presided at the meeting. W. T. Anderson, East End coal dealer, was elected chairman of the East Liverpool committee, succeeding the late J. J. Weisend, for many years a Democratic leader in East Liverpool.

Mayor Charles Brown last night filed his declaration for re-nomination on the Republican ticket with Election Board Clerk J. W. Moore. Other candidates whose papers were received yesterday were Mrs. Maude Jones, treasurer, East Palestine, and W. E. Schubert, village clerk, Salineville, and David W. Bolles, member village council, Salineville, all Republicans.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL RULE TONIGHT ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION ISSUE

Superintendent Will be Elected Following Open Meeting on Ministerial Association's Request for Bible Classes.

The school board will act upon the Ministerial association's request for permission to conduct classes in religious education in the public school buildings, starting next September, at a meeting in the high school at 7 o'clock tonight. Successor to F. P. Geiger, as superintendent of schools, probably will be chosen at an executive session which will follow the open meeting on the Bible class question.

Proponents and opponents of the ministers' request for the use of the school biuldings for religious education classes are expected to attend tonight's meeting.

A committee of ministers representing the association who appeared before the school board several weeks ago will be present.

Indications are the decision of the board members on the issue will be reached by a divided vote. Should the request be granted the fight will be carried into the courts, it was intimated today.

At least 25 candidates are seeking the school superintendency, it is said. Inasmuch as many of the applicants are employed elsewhere the school board will not make public their names.

"Step in, Get Warm," Sign on Heater as Mercury Hits 90's

PITTSBURGH, June 4.—While torrid temperatures today continued to melt collars and cause fresh applications of lipstick to run down chins in tiny rivulets, a local stove merchant displayed in front of his place of business a gas heater, sending out heat waves with as great gusto as during the winter.

A sign read:

"Step in and get warm."

KIWANIS HOST TO ORCHESTRA

School Musicians Give Selections at Luncheon.

Members of the high school orchestra, numbering approximately 25, were guests of the Kiwanis club at the noon luncheon in the Larkins annex, Market street, today.

The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Ralph Johnson, gave a program of music preceding and following the meeting. Feature numbers included a trumpet duet by Misses Marcella Miller and Jean Langfitt and two saxophone solos by Master Ted Tatgenhorst, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tatgenhorst, youngest member of the orchestra.

Eighty-five members of the club and their guests attended the luncheon. G. E. Lewis presided. Robert Parker, Chester real estate and insurance dealer, furnished the attendance prize, a pair of silk socks and a necktie, which were awarded to J. C. Smith.

NORWAY TESTS TWO MONOPLANES FOR NORTH POLE RELIEF FLIGHT

Six Men Plan to Make Search for Amundsen-Ellsworth Arctic Flyers Who Have Been Missing for 14 Days.

COPENHAGEN, June 4.—The Norwegian naval station at Horten, Norway, expected to test today the two monoplanes, which, if satisfactory, will be taken to Spitzbergen Saturday to begin a search for the missing Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole flyers, comprising two aeroplanes and six men.

Both monoplanes are equipped with wireless so that the Norwegian government constantly will be in communication with the commanding officers and can send additional assistance quickly if the Amundsen-Ellsworth party is found in distress.

It is proposed to divide the territory in such a way that there would be no possibility of missing the party. The territory would be divided between the Norwegian expedition, the French expedition under Captain Charcot and the American expedition under Captain Donald B. MacMillan.

Today ended the fourteenth day since Amundsen and his associate, Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator, "hopped off" from Spitzbergen, an island east of Greenland and owned by Norway. No word has come from them.

100 WORKERS ARE APPOINTED FOR PLAYLOT SOUVENIR DAY

Seek Funds Tomorrow to Maintain Recreation Center.

$1,200 IS GOAL

Mrs. John T. Bowers Names Aides in One-day Drive.

More than 100 workers—club women, high school girls, Boy Scouts and boys from the Y. M. C. A. and playgrounds—will collect funds tomorrow, Playlot Novelty Day, to finance the operation of the city recreation center at the corner of Second and Washington streets.

Metal and celluloid butterflies, spiders and cupids will be sold on the streets under the direction of the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. John T. Bowers, of Bradshaw avenue, is chairman.

Mrs. Bowers will be in charge of headquarters which will be maintained during the day in the Chamber of Commerce offices in the Little building. She will be assisted by Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mrs. W. H. Nagel, Miss Edna Simms, Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, Mrs. Jason H. Brookes and Mrs. Maude L. McMurray.

"Let's Give the Kiddies a Safe Place to Play," is the slogan adopted by the workers in their appeal for funds. The solicitation will start at 9 a. m. and continue until probably 9 o'clock in the evening.

Need East End Workers.

Additional workers, particularly in the East End district, are needed, Mrs. Bowers announced. Boy Scouts, youths from the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. and playground lads, who will be under the leadership of Harvey J. Price, boys' work director at the Y. M. C. A., will circulate among crowds on the circus grounds and also be assigned the railroad and street car waiting stations.

Approximately $1,200 will be required to finance the downtown playground this summer. Should the re-

Still is Seized In East End Attic; Owner Fined $1,000

Secreted in a low attic, containing no windows, in a house in Central avenue, East End, police yesterday afternoon found a still for which they have been hunting for several weeks. As a result of the raid, Julius Pearce, employed at the American Vitrified Products company's plant, was fined $1,000 and costs on a charge of manufacturing liquor by Mayor Brown last night.

Police have visited Pearce's home several times during the last few weeks in search of liquor, but found nothing. When Chief McDermott, Captain Conley and Desk Sergeant Toland went to the house yesterday afternoon their attention was attracted by Pearce crawling down through a small trap door in the ceiling of an upstairs clothes press.

Officer Toland crawled through the trap door into the dark attic and found a 25-gallon still, several barrels of mash and five gallons of liquor. The trap door was so small that the police were forced to wreck the still to get it through the opening. The attic, about five foot high, was lighted with a lantern.

Police say that Pearce tore away a portion of the ceiling to get the barrels into the attic, then plastered it up again. The accused posted security as a guarantee that his fine would be paid.

LIQUOR-PROOF WALL EXTENDING AROUND U. S. RUM WAR OBJECTIVE

To Cut Supply of Those, Who, With Well Stocked Cellars, Laugh at Volstead Law, Says Chieftain.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A liquor-proof wall extending entirely around the United States to stop smuggling of wet goods permanently is the objective of the government's rum war, the treasury disclosed today.

To cut off the liquor supply of those who, with well-stocked cellars, have laughed at the Volstead act, is among the prime purposes of the "whisky crusade," Gen. L. C. Andrews, Field marshal of the prohibition forces, declared.

"I believe that we can make the borders and the coast lines as difficult for the liquor smugglers to reach as though they were an armed enemy," Andrews said.

Details of a general plan to bring about observance of the dry law are being worked out by Andrews, who was selected by President Coolidge to head enforcement and to coordinate the activities of various agencies.

Initial steps to bring about cooperation of the law enforcement arms, including the coast guard, prohibition unit, customs service, department of justice, immigration inspectors and the department of agriculture's "border patrol," to clamp down the dry lid have proven the plan is feasible, according to reports to the treasury.

OHIOAN TURNS PISTOL UPON SELF AFTER HE RUNS AMUCK IN HOME

Eight-year-old Girl, Who Flees From House in Nightie When First Shot is Fired by Her Uncle, is Only Member of Family to Escape Slaughter in Hamilton.

AGED MOTHER SHOT AS SHE SLEEPS, GUNMAN FIRES 50 TIMES OR MORE

Little Hope for Immediate Relief From Heat That Has Prevailed Since Sunday in Sight as Torrid Weather and Cool Waters Claim 25 More Victims in Mid-west.

HAMILTON, O., June 4.—Crazed by the intense heat, Lloyd Russell, 42, this morning shot and killed eight persons and then turned the gun upon himself, sending a bullet through one lung.

The victims, in the order in which they apparently were shot to death, are:

Mrs. Rose Russell, 60; Mrs. Emma Russell, 36; John L. Russell, 35; Julia Russell, 10; Robert Russell, 8; Grace Russell,6; Paul Russell,3, and Richard Russell, 3 months.

Dorothy Russell, 8, was the only member of the family to escape. She ran screaming from the house in her nightie after the first shot was fired by her uncle.

Bodies Strewn About Home.

Neighbors heard the shooting and called the police.

By the time the officers arrived Russell had fired 50 shots or more. Some of the bodies of his victims were punctured five or six times.

The bodies were strewn about the house. The aged mother of the crazed man was shot as she slept. Others fell dead on the floor.

When the police entered the house it resembled a shambles.

Russell, with one shot through his lung, exclaimed:

His gun was empty, however, and the officers, as they stepped into the house covered him with their revolvers.

They took no chance on his firing again. He was weak and offered no resistance and was easily disarmed. When taken to a hospital physicians, after an examination, declared Russell would recover.

Slaughter Appalls Police.

Policemen broke into the house and took the gun away from Russell. Detectives Dooley and Miller, who were with them, were appalled at sight of the place of slaughter, they say.

The gun wielder told the police that he worked at the Champion paper mills in Hamilton and was single. He never drank, smoked or chewed tobacco and was regarded as a good citizen. According to his story, a mortgage for $1,600 was due on his home Thursday and he didn't have the money to meet it. Therefore, according to the police, rather than have himself and his brother's family turned into the streets, he decided to slay

GASTONIA, N. C., June 4.—Convicts in Camp No. 2 in this county have been whipped until the blood ran, the Gaston county grand jury declared in a report today.

The whipping was administered, according to the grand jury, with sticks eight feet long and while the prisoners were at work.

The report alleged that a guard named Kirksles had whipped the men while he was under the influence of liquor and recommended that he be discharged.

Sizzling Weather Will Continue, is Washington Word

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The weather bureau today promised no relief from the heat wave during the remainder of the week east of the Mississippi river, although slightly lower temperatures are probable in northern New York and northern New England tonight.

Local thunder showers were predicted for the lower lake region.

The temperature of 99 degrees registered here Wednesday was said to be the highest record for June since 1911.

MRS. MEAR, 86, WIDOW, DIES

Funeral Services in M. P. Church at 2 p. m. Saturday

Mrs. Emily Mear, 86, widow of the late James Mear, and a resident of East Liverpool for 63 years, died last evening in her home, 319 West Third street.

Mrs. Mear, who was born in Burslem, England, leaves two sons, John M. and Martin, both of this city, five grandchildren and one great grandchild. Finds Scar Surgery New Aid for Criminals

New York.—Surgeons and heads of hospitals may soon have to be included among those to whom the police send circulars descriptive of criminals at large.

The comparatively new field of reconstructive surgery, by which scars or other distinguishing marks may be removed from the face or body, threatens to become an important aid to criminals sought by the police.

Deputy Police Commissioner Faurot is considering a problem stated in an address to the school of detectives by Dr. James Francis Grattan, a New York surgeon who was a medical officer at West Point during the World war. Doctor Grattan reconstructed faces and bodies of many wounded soldiers.

This is the problem:

"What is to prevent a criminal with a scar on his face, and who is wanted in Chicago, from going to some legitimate surgeon's office in Philadelphia or some other city and having his scar removed, remaining away until all visible signs are removed, and then going where he pleases?"

Hairdresser, Laundress, Chauffeur Share in Will

Milwaukee.—Bequests of $2,000 to Miss Meta Leopold, hairdresser of the late Mrs. Edith Manville; $5,000 to Mrs. Anna Schmitt, her laundress, and $10,000 to Edward Holstein, her chauffeur, are features of her will filed with Judge Sheridan. The value of the estate is estimated at $608,000. The will provides that the $58,000 home be sold and the proceeds divided among five institutions in memory of her husband, the late Charles R. Manville, an officer of Johns-Manville, Inc., manufacturers of asbestos, and her father, the late Dr. Oscar W. Carlson, widely known physician and Civil war veteran.

Sir Oliver Lodge Out in Defense of Angels

London.—Sir Oliver Lodge has publicly come out on the side of the angels, and the famous student of the occult declares he is convinced that not only do angels exist, but there are many grades of beings higher than man.

Speaking at Greyfriars, Sir Oliver said there was no reason to doubt the existence of many grades of celestial beings. In Revelation they are called cherubim, seraphim, angels and archangels, and science, so far as it has progressed, makes it impossible to hold that man is the last word in creation.

When one opens a door in answer to the meowing of a cat, that is a miracle from the cat's point of view, said Lodge, and in the same way the interference in our behalf of supernatural powers is a miracle to us.

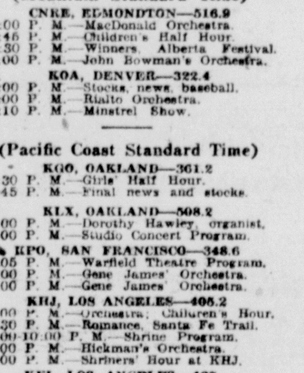
Rheumatism

LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Asserts James H. Allen, Who Drove Out Rheumatic Poisons After Being Crippled for Years.



Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," say East Liverpool druggists who have been appointed agents in your city. It is Mr. Allen's own discovery.

Clever Buffalo Chemist Says New Treatment for Piles Never Fails

Buffalo, N. Y.—For years the generally accepted tratment for Hemorrhoids or Piles has been by the insertion of many so-called antiseptics and astringents into the rectum. Such treatments, while they in many cases gave relief, never reached or acted on the cause of the trouble and this was often true of surgical operations.

You've got to attack the real cause of the Piles and not the piles themselves and you've got to do it from a constitutional standpoint and this is just what the Hamadala treatment does. It attacks the cause and not the formation and the cause once removed, all those painful, congested, knotted and strangulated blood vessels are restored to their normal function and blind, bleeding or protruding piles become a thing of the past.

So sure and certain of results are the manufacturers that the Hamadala treatment is only sold under a rigid guarantee of satisfatcion or money back. C. G. Anderson, Carnahan's drug stores, and J. D. Holloway are selling lots of this truly wonderful remedy. The price is $1.00. Mail orders filled. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

A. J. WHITE'S HAT IN RING HERE

Plumbing Contractor Will be Candidate for Mayor.

The entry of White increases the Republican mayoralty field to two candidates. J. M. Kenney was the first to file for the executive's job.

White is a lifelong resident of Wellsville. He was born here in 1871. For 36 years he was in the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, having been employed as a boilermaker.

After leaving the railroad service a number of years ago, he entered the plumbing business in which he is engaged at the present time.

White, several years ago, was a member of the city council. He is now a constable, having been named to the office two years ago.

SUES PENNSY FOR $40,000 DAMAGES

Through his attorney, W. A. O'Grady, Ralph Congrove of Wellsville, former employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, has filed an action in common pleas court against the railroad company for $40,000 damages.

In his petition, Congrove asserts that he had been working as a drill press operator. He declares that the press was out of line and defective. He says that, as a result of an accident which he attributes to this condition, he suffered the loss of his right eye and the impairment of sight of his left eye.

RAILROADS START SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The summer campaign to prevent accidents and save lives at railroad crossings was inaugurated on the Pennsylvania railroad today. Efforts will be conentrated on the education of motor car drivers to crossing hazards. This will be the fourth nation-wide campaign under auspices of the American Railway association, in which the Pennsylvania railroad participates.

Elisha Lee, president in charge of operation, today issued the following order, calling upon all officers and employes for co-operation in the campaign.

"The fourth national 'careful-crossing' campaign to prevent railroad-highway crossing accidents begins today and will continue until September 30. The slogan is: 'Think, Driver, Think!'

"Seventeen and one-half million automobiles were registered in the United States last year and 2,099 persons were killed and 6,525 were injured at railway crossings, 85 per cent being drivers or other occupants of automobiles.

"This year the number of automobiles will probably reach 20,00,000, and crossing accidents, will, as a matter of course, show a marked increase. As a result, automobile drivers ought to use greater care when approaching railroad crossings, and this we believe the greater bulk of drivers will do when the danger is made clear to them.

"The elimination of all grade crossings in the United States by overhead construction would cost at least $19,000,000,000 and the Pennsylvania railway system alone the cost would amount to nearly $8,000,000,000. Such an enormous cost renders elimination on large scale impossible.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 431 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend.'"

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1925.

Make Play Safe For Children

The recreation and health committee of the City Federation of Women's clubs today appealed to mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters for their support tomorrow in a campaign to make play safe for the children of East Liverpool.

Under the direction of Mrs. John T. Bowers, chairman of the committee, club women and high school girls will sell souvenirs on streets and the East End circus grounds as a means of raising funds to maintain the municipal playground during the summer.

The response to the appeal shall determine the interest of the people in wholesome outdoor exercise for Young America as well as their desire to safeguard little John and Mary from the perils of traffic when the streets are used as play centers.

Approximately $1,200 is needed to maintain the recreation lot, which has been sponsored by the Club Federation for many years. Part of this fund will be expended for salaries for two supervisors, under whose direction all activities are to be conducted, while the remainder will be invested in new equipment, etc.

Through supervised play, the automobile death toll among children is being decreased. Recent reports show that nearly 19,000 lives are exacted annually by motor vehicles. In Ohio, the death toll in traffic accidents is near 800 a year.

Help safeguard children from the dangers of play in the public highways. Contribute your dollars and cents for the maintenance of supervised recreation. Buy playlot souvenirs tomorrow.

Hats In South Africa

The Basuto warriors who recently honored the Prince of Wales by appearing before him in native costume set off by European hats no doubt presented a somewhat awesome spectacle. Derby hats, black and brown, caps, military busbies, opera hats and one academic mortar board comprised the astonishing array of headgear of the chiefs and their followers. At the conclusion of the formal ceremonies the prince presented his loyal Basuto friends with walking sticks which will undoubtedly be carried by these warriors or their children at the next royal levee.

It would be rather interesting to know the history of those hats and caps. Were some of them given in exchange for far more valuable articles, such as ivory? Had they been distributed by missionaries or traders? Most of the hats were reported as looking as if they had seen better days. How many native parades and ceremonials had they witnessed, and how had they been allotted among the various social groups of the tribes?

The wearing of derby, battered cap, mortar board or opera hat in any civilized community certainly reveals something of the possessor's business or character. What about it in South Africa?

Monument to Tom and Huck

A monument is to be built in Hannibal, Mo., to Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. It will stand on Cardiff Hill, at the head of one of the principal business streets—a place often mentioned in Mark Twain's chronicles.

Tom and Huck deserve a monument, if any kids ever did, even though some finicky folk may say that the author's books are sufficient for the purpose. Well done in marble, without too much polish and refinement, in a pose and finish suggesting the ingenious and lovable deviltries of those immortal scalawags, they would be a notable addition to the glories of Hannibal, and an added attraction to visitors, even if not pointing any useful moral such as one commonly associates with memorial sculpture.

But if we are going to start building monuments to literary creations, where will this thing end? We shall have Dickens' and Cooper's and Bret Harte's and O. Henry's heroes materialized in marble, and shafts rising everywhere to characters which never existed except in the mind of genius.

That may be all right, though. Perhaps the children of imagination, as portrayed by masters, are the most real and enduring of all. The poets themselves were real enough, or seemed so when they walked about and spoke, ate, worked and slept like other folk. But Homer, Virgil, Dante and Shakespeare are now only vague traditions, while the gods and men they dreamed and sung of are still living and vital, like familiar friends that one doesn't take the trouble to visit.

Cultured Sailors

Sailors are demanding books, especially on the Great Lakes. So the American Merchant Marine Library Association is raising a collection of 10,000 volumes for them to while away their leisure time with this season.

What kind of books? There is a surprising demand for good literature, for solid works of history and economics, and especially for scientific works along many lines.

It is not exactly a case of old-fashioned sailors acquiring literary tastes but of the type of sailors changing. The "grizzled and blasphemous sea dog" of fiction is said to have given place to the student-athlete from high school or college, aiming to become an engineer or pilot, or working through the summer for money to carry on his school studies in the fall. The books are "as much a part of the ship as the mess table." The crew has plenty of time off, under the present rules, and little occasion or desire to waste it. "They just knock off and go below and read."

All this is reassuring. When a boy "runs away to sea" nowdays, it will have to be assumed that he has gone in quest of a good education.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 4.—The unfortunate hiatus for the chorus girl is here. She is back from the road show. Back to the gas-jetted hall bedroom. Back to the dreary, monotonous round of the agencies—but happy withal because she is back on Broadway.

The notion that chinchilla and the chorine are synonymous is one of the most fallacious of popular myths. For one who has an apartment on the Drive or a limousine there are thousands in shiny serge wondering just how it will be possible to exist through the summer.

The cabarets used to offer them a slight and temporary haven but the professional dancing teams now supplant the expansive revue. The Stage Door Inn offers vicarious posts as waitresses, but the waiting list of applicants is long.

You see them bravely and hopefully waiting in the agency ante-rooms. Now and then they give way to little shoots of tears, but a few moments later in the jargon of Broadway they are "laughing it off." They cling together and—due to the ancient superstition—have a coin for the street beggar. This is an omen of luck.

There are two types of chorus girl. One sees in the footlight glamour a chance to angle for some big butter and egg man down front and launch on a chiffon career. The apotheosis of success to her is a Paquin gown and a white Russian wolf hound to lead up the avenue.

The other, who is in the majority, is a serious minded, hard-working girl who is usually fed-up on the romantic Cinderella slush of stepping into a star part and having her name etched in Broadway lights over night.

This does happen in fiction but in real life is rare. The manager of an agency who supplies "ladies of the ensemble" tells me that in a list of 204 girls to whom he supplied jobs last season only one arose above the chorus. She had a two-line speaking part and was selected because she had an amusing lisp. And a baby stare.

I perhaps receive a thousand letters a year from ambitious maidens aspiring to footlight fame. The letters come from the prairie cottage and city street. From hovel and mansion. Stage magic at some time or other seems to touch them all. For a number of years I was an associate of a producer who employed more chorus girls than any other of his ilk. In that long passing parade I can count only five who met with anything like success and none of this was extraordinary. But the list of those who have met with misfortune, despair and poignant tragedy would more than fill this space. Remember three who ended it all by self-administered poison. One who was garroted in her luxurious apartment, others who simply disappeared. A gloomy picture but a true one.

Two stage comedians, by the way, are filling in an "At Liberty" period in an unusual way this summer. Each was taken to Europe by a group of rich men to act as official jesters on board ship. They received all expenses and a salary guarantee for donning cap and bells.

Manhattan and Brooklyn women may smoke with men on the back platform of street cars. Curiosity led me across the bridge at the evening rush hour. I did not see any woman taking advantage of the privilege and was a little pleased. But a conductor spoiled the effect when I asked him if many of the female passengers smoked on the cars. "Naw," he said, "they wait until they get home."

Reading over that I am conscious of striving for an effect. The conductor did not say "Naw." What he actually said was, "No, sir, they usually wait until they reach home."

Do This After Severe Illness

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well — everybody knows that.

But nobody wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Carnahan's and Mathew's Medicine store or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents

Bad Breath

Now that every thinking person in town has on hand a bottle of Kojene, the safe and delightful antiseptic, we want them to know that it will banish bad breath—no matter what the cause.

Put a teaspoonful in a glass of water—rinse the mouth and gargle the throat with half of it—then drink the balance.

Do this night and morning.

Many times bad breath comes from the stomach and Kojene, the powerful yet harmless antiseptic, will purify it and quickly make it sweet and clean.

Kojene is having a sensational sale the country over because it is a real antiseptic.

As an antiseptic, it is four times as powerful as carbolic acid and much more powerful that Bicloride of Mercury.

And to those people who are using ordinary washes that were good thirty years ago, let us say that Kojene is seventy-five times more powerful than these old timers and a 60 cent bottle will make half a gallon of a supremely efficient mouth wash—60 cents at Jesse D. HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Making American Dry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The people of the United States, although expecting the Prohibition Enforcement Act, were not prepared for it. The government was not prepared for it, and the law-breaker was not prepared for it. In fact no one could see what it was going to lead to.

When the United States became temporarily dry July 1st, 1919 and permanently dry, January 16th, 1920, liquor, as it had been known, was comparatively scarce; many who craved their liquor took it while holding their noses, drinking disgusting stuff that smelled bad, tasted worse and had a terrible effect.

This sort of thing persisted until the bootleggers realized what it was all about. There then arose those great illegal corporations which were organized to pour a flood of contra-brand liquer, supposedly good, into the United States. The rise of these organizations brought millions of cases of doubtful brands into the country. This raw liquor came from rum runners on the three coasts and across the borders, its purveyors eluding government authorities and scampering back to safety.

The stream of supply naturally gravitated to those points which led to the greatest markets, and Rum Row off the coast of New Jersey and New York sprang into prominence. Off Miami the "rummies" plied their trade, delivering Cuban liquor to wealthy winterers in Florida. From Mobile to New Orlean the rum fleet landed its goods to be carried up the Mississippi valley in automobiles and distributed from Memphis, St. Louis and other points.

From El Paso there were run two caravans of automobiles, one traveling northeast and the other north; one seeking St. Louis and the other Denver and Cheyenne. The rummies sailed along the California coast near Los Angeles and San Francisco while up at Portland and Puget Sound the liquor forces attacked the dry defences.

There was not much activity along the western Canadian border, since the vast expanse from the Pacific to Lake Superior did not overlook a flourishing market, but on the lakes the business thrived.

Canadian Beer Favored.

Detroit was one of the sore spots. Canadian beer and ale were sent into the United States in such quantities that one estimate declared that more than 3,000,000 gallons came across during 1924. The Canadian border, from the St. Lawrence to Lake Champlain, was the worst stretch of land border. From Canada the bootlegger poured a stream of liquor toward New York, Boston, Baf

RUSSELL SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

Suspended Dry Chief Denies Liquor Conspiracy.

CLEVELAND, June 4.—Joshua E. Russell, 58, suspended prohibition director of Ohio, on trial in federal district court here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, through the release of vast quantities of whisky through the Armand Drug & Candy company of Cleveland, to northern Ohio bootleggers, took the stand as a witness in his own defense shortly before noon today.

Russell, self-possessed and ready with his answers, denied all the charges made against him by government witnesses.

He specifically denied that he had ever known Abe Ungerleider, Columbus broker and star government witness, or ever seen him until Ungerleider took the stand as a government witness Monday. He asserted that he had never had any dealings with any of his 10 fellow defendants in connection with the release of liquor.

Trotzky is back in Moscow, but in a humble job, with the army taken from him. Opening the new Russian institute, planned by Lenin, he predicts a new human society. "Politics will die away with higher industrial technique, and human beings will be divided in groups of technical parties. These interesting suggestions might lead to the organization of human society along the lines of insect society, in bee hives and ant hills.

Crazed By Heat

everybody living there. Two 32-calibre revolvers were used by Russell.

Excitement Runs High.

The repeated barking of the guns punctured by the screams of the one little girl who escaped into the ward, attracted a great throng of people to the immediate vicinity.

Excitement ran high.

With the arrival of the auto load of police, however, the fears of the crowd passed and the officers, with guns drawn, closed in on the house and entered the death room.

No more shooting followed and a feeling of relief swept the vast throng.

After the madman had been rendered powerless, the bodies were removed to an undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held.

Man Insane, Police Believe.

Police said there was no doubt that Russell was stark mad.

His countenance plainly revealed a very serious mental state. They said he had not been drinking and attributed his sudden insanity and mad lust for blood to the intense heat.

Russell was not content with shooting his victims once. The bullet-riddled bodies were mute evidence of his viciousness.

The mother, who was shot as she lay asleep in her bed, was the first victim selected by the heat-crazed murderer.

Little Dorothy, the niece of the madman, is the only one who can tell just what happened when the gun began to bark. She is suffering from a terrific shock and, when she does talk, lisps an incoherent story. Kindly disposed neighbors are caring for the little girl and will question her when she is more composed, in the presence of the coroner and other authorities.

First Shot Awakens Household.

According to the story of the shooting as pieced together by police, Russell worked his way through the house almost methodically. The first bullet which killed his mother as she slept awakened the entire house. The three-month old baby was frightened and cried. The other children fled, trying to hide.

The crying of the infant annoyed Russell. He went to the cradle and placed a pistol against the baby's head, firing three times. When a sound attracted his attention, he whirled around in time to see Robert, 8, trying to creep from the room unnoticed. Five shots ended his flight abruptly.

Paul Louis, 3, had run to his grandmother. Five shots pierced his little body as he pulled at her hand, attempting to awaken her.

Then dashing into an adjoining room, Russell found his brother sitting erect in bed. The position of the body indicated this. The madman pumped 10 shots into him. Two other bullets were for the slayer's sister-in-law. Neither was given a chance to get out of bed.

Reloads His Weapons.

There were three girls left. Russell reloaded his weapons and crept downstairs. Two of the girls, Julia and Grace, were struggling to open the kitchen door. It stuck. As the girls cowered against the door screaming, Russell shot them both between the eyes and then emptied his pistols into their bodies.

After that the slayer saw little Dorothy running across the lawn toward a neighbor's house. As he fired at the girl, Dorothy fell, but she had only fainted.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Little hope for immediate relief from the heat wave that has prevailed since Sunday was in store today. The weather bureau announced the temperature would remain high for the next two days.

The heat was accountable for three deaths in Chicago, among them R. M. Browner, of Rochester, N. Y., who was stricken at the Congress hotel, where he was a guest.

In several sections of the middle west the heat wave brought violent damaging rains and wind storms of tornado proportions. Many persons were killed in the storm. In the region around Minneapolis six deaths were reported. In Iowa eight have been killed since Monday by the storms that accompanied the high temperature. In Nebraska four persons met deaths in small tornadoes.

Thousands expected to seek solace on the municipal beaches at Belle Isle when the recreation places open today for the season.

Two women died yesterday after being stricken while cooking. A boy and a man, escaping the heat by swimming, drowned.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market was irregular in the early trading today, with the preponderance of price changes downward. Profit taking and short selling in the high priced industrial and some of the motor shares resulted in the crowding of selling orders, which were absorbed only at concessions of from 1 to 3 points from the previous closing level.

Removal of the Maxwell motor undeposited stocks from the list by the business committee of the stock exchange brought to a close the spectacular market career of a security in which there was a growing fear of a corner. No announcement was made as to the adjustments of the short interest in the stock, if any exists, but demand fell off for the certificates of the deposited stock, which were unusually inactive and slightly reactionary. Mack Trucks declined moredately, as also did Packard, Hudson and other motor shares which furnished most of Wednesday"s market activity.

June, and the Telephone

ROMANTIC June, with its weddings and graduations, brings many urgings to the American heart to be off to some distant place.

Why not go, when the campus calls to the colors, when sons and daughters want your presence at commencements, when you feel the stir to be somewhere else, as audience or actor?

With long distance to serve, you can be wherever you want to be. There are 16,000,000 telephones in the nation-wide communications service built for your use. One of them is always near to send back decisions and desires to home or office, or carry words of love or greeting to places that call your thoughts.

The romance of life is in the air, and the great romance of modern days---universal telephone service---is yours to further it.

The public is always welcome to visit any Bell exchange, to see how the calls are handled, and have all the operating details explained by employees.

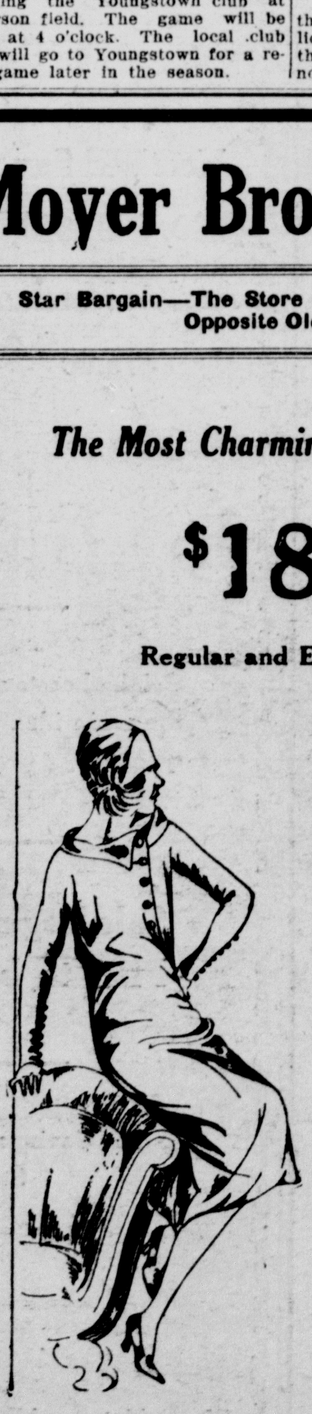
The Most Charming Silk Dresses

$18.00

Regular and Extra Sizes



Only once in a great while is it possible to secure a frock of magnificence at so low a price. The great majority are replicas of models that come from that far-famed Fashion mart, Paris, much of their charm lies in the simplicity of the styling. The quality of the fabrics and the superb attention to those little details that distinguish the better dresses — not the low price.

We are also showing over 500 Dresses in plain and printed silks at two favored prices. You can afford to buy several of these pretty dresses— Sport models predominate.

LOST—$33,000

The carpenters, by their strike, have already lost about $33,000 in wages.

Each man loses $10 a day. That's $270 of loss so far for each man.

All for a dollar a day!

It would take that extra dollar 270 days—49 weeks—almost a year—to make up for the money the men have already lost.

It would be the middle of next May before the men recovered that money.

And the agreement the union is striking for does not last until the middle of next May. It expires next April 30.

How can a man win that way?

The contractors have been, and are, willing to submit the whole case to arbitration. If the union would do the same, the strike might be speedily settled.

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Ellensburg, Washington. — "When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me." — Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Washington.

GASOLINE TAX BILL IS KILLED

Proposal Given Death Blow in House of Delegates.

The 4-cent gasoline tax got its second defeat in the house of delegates yesterday, 43 members voting against it and 39 for it.

The bill was defeated in the house Tuesday, the negative including two members who first voted for it and then changed their votes to the negative to be in a position to move reconsideration yesterday.

Delegate Mathews made the reconsideration motion, which was carried by a vote of 43 to 36.

The question of passing the bill again precipitated a long debate and when it closed the roll call showed some changes from yesteday's standing. In addition to Delegates Andrews and Mathews, who were recorded as voting "no" because of their change of vote, two other members who Tuesday opposed the bill, Delegates Austin and Beard favored it yesterday, explaining that they had been convinced of its necessity.

Delegates Holroyd and Slaughter, who were absent when the vote was taken, also were added to the list in favor of the bill, but to offset these gains, Delegates Pence, Read and Taylor changed from "aye" Tuesday to "no," yesterday, and Delegates Edward and Smith, of Jackson, who voted for the bill Tuesday, were absent yesterday.

The opponents gained the vote of Delegate Stiles, who did not vote, but lost that of Delegate Engle, who was absent.

When it became apparent that the bill was again lost, Delegate Brown moved to postpone the announcement hoping to bring about changes within that time, but that motion was forced to a roll call and lost, 39 to 43, ending the parliamentary jockeying.

When the house took up the gross sales tax bill for consideration on the amendment stage, it showed itself strongly in favor of the two and one-half per cent tax on natural gas, which was one of the features of the house bill.

Austrian Socialists Oppose Building of Clerical University

VIENNA, June — A controversy has arisen because of the determination of the Benedictine monks to build, at Salzburg, an international "collegium" for their students from America, Austria, Bavaria and Switzerland.

The Social Democrats of Austria are bitterly opposing the scheme, because they object to the founding of what they term a "clerical university."

The "collegium" is intended for 120 students, and 50 Benedictine abbeys will jointly defray the cost of building. So far the students have been indebted to the hospitality of other towns.

Enforcing Old Law.

COLUMBUS, May.—Enforcing an apparently forgotten law, enacted by the Ohio legislature about 10 years ago, State Treasurer Day has added $22,289 to the funds in the state treasury. This particular law decrees that, when the state banking department liquidates a bank, or other financial institution, all monies for which there is no claimant, shall become the property of the state and, at the end of five years, after being held in trust, becomes part of the state's general revenue fund, if not claimed. Of the $22,289, $14,789.55 formerly constituted part of the defunct Columbus Savings & Trust company. The balance came from various other financial institutions more operating.

Kansas has more forest trees today than when the state was founded.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 5

What 'Orange Pekoe' Means

Many buyers of tea have come to ask for 'Orange Pekoe' believing that it signifies fine quality. This is not, however, necessarily the case. In the trade 'Orange Pekoe' is only a name given to the first leaf below the bud or tip on any Indian or Ceylon tea bush. An 'Orange Pekoe' leaf grown at a high elevation usually possesses a very fine flavor. If, however, the plant is grown at a low elevation, it may still be 'Orange Pekoe' but also be of very poor quality. The consumer's only safeguard is to buy a tea of recognized goodness. High grown 'Orange Pekoes' comprise a large part of every blend of "SALADA" and give to "SALADA" its unequalled flavor.

Empire State Sheriff Serves Warrant on His Guest for Night

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June.—How would you like to pay a friendly little visit to the sheriff of your county and then have him invite you behind the bars for a sojourn on a charge of which you were utterly ignorant?

That's what happened to Marion Payne, thirty-six, laborer, who calmly walked into the sheriff's office and tried to borrow enough money to purchase three gallons of gasoline. The sheriff informed Payne that he was "broke," but would accommodate him with a night's lodging. Overnight the sheriff discovered that he had a warrant for Payne's arrest on a non-support charge, a warrant that was several months old.

Extra Motor Power with General Cords Explained

Coasting and Running Tests Show Amazing Difference Between Tires

The marked effect different makes of tires have on motor power was shown in General's recent announcements of coasting and running tests.

To understand the reason for the extra motor power demonstrated with the General Cord it must first be understood that all makes of tires absorb a certain amount of motor power. It is internal friction in tires that causes power loss. This varies tremendously according to the amount of internal friction in each.

This internal friction in tires uses up motor power in the same way that friction in the working parts of machinery acts as a drag against power.

Friction is overcome by lubrication. To prevent friction between metal parts a film of oil is used. In the same manner, rubber of the finest grade and in generous quantity is used in the General Cord to keep the cotton plies separated and each cord insulated.

Thus, by a process equivalent to lubrication, General has obtained greater freedom from internal friction, and this is the reason for the extra motor power with the General Cord in comparison with other makes of tires.

Longer Mileage and Low Pressure Due to Less Internal Friction

The extra motor power with the General Cord has an even bigger meaning than the gasoline saving and the longer life of your motor, for that same special feature of construction that accounts for the extra motor power also explains the longer tire mileage—General's greater freedom from internal friction.

Internal friction is the greatest known destroyer of tires. Friction always means wear. And the tire with the least internal friction is naturally the tire that shows the slowest wear, provided this advantage is gained, as it is in the General Cord, without reduction in the number and weight of plies essential to proper construction.

It was General's mastery of internal friction that enabled it to produce, five years ago, the first low-pressure tire ever placed on the market.

Just as today it has enabled General to produce the successful 6-ply balloon cord, to replace 4-ply balloons on all except the smaller cars—combining all balloon advantages with the right strength for the load, as well as reducing balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

The successful use of low pressure depends upon a construction that is able to withstand the heating-up and wearing effect of the increased bending and straining under low pressure.

This shows why General's leadership in low-pressure tires, not only in balloon sizes, but in all Regular sizes, goes hand-in-hand with General's greater freedom from internal friction. It shows also why General has never classified its Regular size cords as "high-pressure" tires.

General Shows How Internal Friction Is Overcome

The process of complete insulation in the General Cord goes beyond the commonly used method of passing cord fabric through a thin solution of gum dissolved in benzol. General's special process, which can only be accomplished by putting the cord plies through large steel calender rollers, gives every ply a heavy coating of finest rubber, uniformly thick, forced between the cords so that each cord is completely surrounded and no two cords can touch. Other important factors in General's friction-eliminating process are the special weave and highest quality of combed cotton, as well as the development of new principles of tire construction throughout.

General Cord Users Enjoyed Low Pressure Before Balloons

General Cord users did not have to wait for balloons in order to enjoy low air pressure.

With experience in low-pressure construction dating back beyond that of any other manufacturer, low pressure in Regular size General Cords had become a well-known feature long before the advent of balloon tires.

In fact, the history of General's development of low pressure is the story of the evolution of the balloon tire.

This is the background that explains General's singular success with low pressure, first with Regular size cords and then with 4-ply and 6-ply balloons.

Low Pressure With Regular Size Tires

Hundreds of thousands of car owners are enjoying the advantages of low pressure without having changed their wheel equipment—they are using General's low-pressure Regular Size Cords.

It was back in 1919 that General produced the first low-pressure tire ever put on the market—the General Jumbo 30 x 3½ Cord requiring only 30 pounds of air. This is the sixth year of low pressure in the General Cord and only such long-standing specialization can explain General's singular success with it in all Regular Size General Cords as well as the Balloons, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will gladly demonstrate the low-pressure advantages of the General Cord for your car.

6-Ply Balloon

General's 4-ply Balloon is the practical equipment for the smaller cars. For the heavier cars the 6-ply Balloon has greater thickness to carry the load and still allows the full flexing action over obstructions. At the same time it reduces balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

General's 6-ply Balloon consumes no more power than the average 4-ply balloon because General's greater freedom from internal friction always means power and gasoline saving.

Back of the 6-ply General Balloon is the long-standing experience that has been responsible for General's singular success with low pressure—in all Regular sizes as well as Balloon Cords, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will be glad to explain fully the advantages of the 6-ply General Balloon and discuss with you the proper equipment for your car.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

falo and the other larger cities of the East.

The United States was a dry continent surrounded by oceans of liquor, which flowed over it. It resembled a marsh more than a continent. The old white stuff had been replaced by uncertain Scotch and dreggy wines, to say nothing of gin, bourbon, cognac, and all the rest.

The government at first was not prepared to meet this flood and dykes had to be built. A treaty was arranged with several nations, among them Great Britain and Germany, whereby the United States was given right so seize any ship carrying contrabrand cargo, within one hour's sailing distance of the American coast, the distance to be determined by the speed of the smuggling ship. This, of course, was subject to the circumstance that the ship had established contact with American subjects or American property. Unless this occurred the smuggler might sail to a point just outside the thre-mile limit and remain safe from American authorities. If, however, he established contact with the United States in any way, wthin one hour's sailing distance, the Coast Guard ships might pursue him to the remote corners of the seas and seize him, provided he did not cast anchor in an alien port. This treaty was an important step.

But even this did not stop the rummies. They lay off New York the greatest market, and continually sent their goods into the country. Then the Sixty-eighth Congress appropriated more than $12,200,000 to be used in building and refitting ships with which the Coast Guard might combat the liquor fleet.

When the Coast Guard declared war, such as the rummies had not before experienced, it sent into the field a force consisting of 321 cruising and harbor cutters, destroyers and patrol boats and many smaller craft, manned by 8,000 enlisted men, 300 commissioned officers and 700 warrant officers. This is twice the normal strength of the Coast Guard and the maximum has not been reached yet. There are many more boats to be constructed.

This force struck at the strategic position of the rum fleet off New York and smashed it. The rum runners fled, or, if they stayed, were surrounded by Coast Guard ships that watched their every movement. A recent report says that 28 ships were taking refuge in Halifax, while many have fled to the Bahamas or to other waters. Some are moving South to other fields of activity and some are landing their wares, but the blow was staggering and this warfare will continue until the rum fleet becomes non-existent.

Pitched Battles Fought.

There have been pitched battles in this war. The guard so far has lost but one man, who was killed off the Connecticut coast. Only a few have been wounded. There have been spirited fights in Puget Sound where the rummies put up a hard resistance, but the Guard broke their power there too. When pressed too close, the outlaws have been known to turn about and ram the government ship, but not caring much about the outcome, knowing that they were in for it anyway.

During 1924 there were 46,000 boats boarded by the Coast Guard, of which 2,200 were seized, an average of more than six daily. Recently in the New York Customs warehouse alone there were 200,000 gallons of liquor that had been confiscated, and these figures will grow steadily larger as the campaign continues.

The Coast Guard, the deep water service, is the first line of defense. Next is the Customs, along shore and border, and then the prohibition units, which operate within the country. All three are a part of the Treasury department and are under the supervision of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, L. S. Andrews.

Negotiations now under way for a treaty with Mexico, whereby the United States will receive information from the Mexican authorities concerning smuggling in return for similar information from this country. A like treaty is now pending between Canada and the United States.

Fortified by these two treaties, and additional money and equipment, the enforcement agents should reduce the smugging problem to the minimum. The dry defense lines up like this: nine Coast Guard bases on the Atlantic Coast at Boston, Gloucester, Mass., New London, Conn., Grenport, N. Y., Staten Island, N. Y., Atlantic City, Cape May, N. J., Norfolk, Va.; and Miami, Fla.; one on the Gulf Coast at Biloxi, Miss., and four on the Pacific coast—one at San Francisco and three on Puget Sound. These bases are separate units and are much the same as division headquarters would be in the Army in time of war. Their forces patrol their territorial waters and form a ring of steel around the coasts. There are about 75 customs ports of entry on the Canadian These correspond to the Coast Guard border, and 20 on the Mexican border bases on the sea as far as the dry defense is concerned.

This increased activity is bearing fruit. The Customs has not as yet received as much money as the Coast Guard, and neither have the prohibition units. All around, however, there is a distinct stiffening in the resistence against the wet invasion. Since the territories present a small problem the whole strength will be used in protecting the borders of the United States. When the Customs and Prohibition Units receive corresponding appropriations, and the full strength of enforcement is thrown against the liquor forces, it is said that bootleggers will become as precarious as counterfeiting.

Allison Announces Roster of City's 'Big League' Cage Team

Sends Contracts to Seven Eastern Stars For Opening Season

Entire Pottsville, Pa., Squad, Which Two Years Ago, Playing Under Trenton, N. J., Colors, Led the Eastern Basketball League, Will Make Headquarters Here This Winter, Sports Promoter Asserts.

Frank D. Allison, sponsor of the East Liverpool entry in the American Basketball league, today announced the asquisition of seven eastern cage stars of national prominence who will represent the Ceramic city in the new major court circuit. The netire squad was rounded up and herded into the East Liverpool corral barely three days after President Joe Carr, of Columbus, had notified Allison to go ahead with plans for the city's part in the league.

Here is the squad: Louis Sugarman, Philadelphia; Edward Kearns, Trenton, N. J.; Thomas Barlow, Trenton; Maurice Tome, Trenton; Jerry Sullivan, New York; Charles M. Wallace, Middletown, Pa.; and Charles Glasco, New York.

Last year this outfit, which has been operating on eastern courts for four years as members of the same team, sent Pottsville, Pa., to the basketball pinnacle in the east.

Two years ago, Allison asserts, this particular crew, playing for Trenton, N. J., won the eastern league championship.

Contracts for the seven men were signed here yesterday, at a conference of local sports backers, by Allison and Louis Sugarman. The prowess of Sugarman on the courts is probably better known here than that of other members of the crew. He is a Philadelphia dentist, but devotes several months in the winter to basketball.

It became known at yesterday's conference here that at least three members of this squad have already been approached by other teams in the American Basketball league, proffers having came from Fort Wayne, Ind., Chicago and the Cleveland Rosenblums.

The team, however, has been playing together, and the respective members expressed a desire to continue as mates for the coming season. East Liverpool was the only city in the American loop open for an entire squad. As a result the eastern stars took up Allison's offer.

The record of the club signed by Allison includes victories over the Rosenblums, Kingston, N. Y., and the Celtics, among others.

THEY FACE EACH OTHER IN FIRST BIG HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE

By Norman E. Brown.

These two huskies, Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tuney, meet June 5 at the Polo grounds, New York city, in the first of the big outdoor season heavyweight bouts. Gibbons must turn back the younger Tunney to remain a real contender for Dempsey's crown. A victory for Tunney, youthful and ambitious, will start him on the road to more big battles and a possible crack at the champion. Gibbons' experience, ring generalship and short body punch are in his favor. Tunney faces these with youth, stamina, considerable skill and a stiff wallop in either hand.

NEW OPEN GOLF CHAMP LOOMS

Diegel and MacFarlane Lead Field in National Play.

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 4.—A new golfer will be crowned open champion of the United States before nightfall, it seemed certain today as the field swung into the concluding 36 holes, on the Worcester Country club course.

The early favorites, MacDonald Smith, Bobby Jones, the amateur champion, and Walter Hagen, are not yet out of it, but their position is precarious, and there was plenty of money to be had around the starting tee this morning that this most feared trio will not be in at the killing of the goose.

Leo Diegel and Willie MacFarlane lead the field, tied at 141. They played super-brilliant golf yesterday and unless they crack today under the merciless sun they should come down the stretch neck and neck.

Behind this leading pair are a quartet of dangerous shotmakers, including two men who have known what it is to wear the open champion's crown. Francis Gallet, of Milwaukee, Al Espinosa, of Glencoe, and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, are bunched at 143, two strokes behind Diegel and MacFarlane, and only a stroke worse, at 144, is Gene Sarazen. Ouimet won the open in 1913 and Sarazen at Skokie two years ago.

Jones, with 147, is six strokes behind the leaders, and Hagen with 148, seven strokes in the rear. If any of the half dozen men ahead of them shoot to their yesterday's form it bodes ill for these grand golfers. Mac Smith's golf has been disappointing to his many backers. He had 73 and 79 yesterday for a sloppy 152.

Cyril Walker, the present champion, has faded from the picture, an 81 on his opening round did the business, and not even a snappy 73 later could undo the mischief.

As the field went into the stretch today, any of the 12 leaders had a chance at the prize. They stood this morning:

Leo Diegel, Glen Oaks	73	68	141
Willie MacFarlane, Oak Ridge	74	67	141
Francis Gallet, Milwaukee	73	70	143
Al Espinosa, Chicago	72	71	143
Francis Ouimet, Boston	70	73	143
Gene Sarazen, New York	72	72	144
J. Farrell, New York	71	74	145
Laurie Ayton, Chicago	75	71	146
Mike Brady, New York	74	72	146
J. Forrester, Hollywood	71	76	147
Bobby Jones, Atlanta	77	70	147
Walter Hagen	72	76	148

Yost Loses Both Grid Guards But One May Aid Him as Coach

Yost's two guards of 1924, Edliff Slaughter, Michigan's All-American star last season, and Harold O. Steele, Slaughter's running mate for three seasons, have completed their years of collegiate participation. Slaughter is considering an offer from Wisconsin to help Coach George Little, his former mentor at Michigan, coach the line of the 1925 Badger team. Steele will remain in Ann Arbor as an assistant to Yost.

RUTH MAY OUTLAST OLD MATES

NEW YORK, June 4.—In spite of his rather carefree mode of living, it is beginning to appear as though Babe Ruth will outlast the few survivors of the 1915-16 Boston Red Sox now remaining in the major leagues. Ruth faces at least five years of further service on the big time, provided he takes even nominal care of the excellent body with which heredity and circumstance endowed him.

It is extremely doubtful if the rest of the old Red Sox in the major leagues at present — Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper, Everett Scott, Carl Mays and Dutch Leonard—will be actively identified with big league baseball in 1930. Most of them are near the end of their tether now.

Tris Is Old.

Speaker is hitting with his old fervor and can race back to get them with the next; but Tris is nearly 40 and the gray of his temples is not altogether premature. There have been telltale signs for several years of Speaker's retrogression as a ball player.

Hooper sat on the bench when the White Sox opened the 1925 season, but managed to work his way back into the lineup and, at the moment, is doing well. He, however, escaped from Boston a few years ago only because the Red Sox thought he was passe. Therefore, the end cannot be far away.

Scott's impending withdrawal was forecast early this season when Miller Huggins was forced to bench him. Scott is one of the youngest of the ex-champions in point of service, but didn't wear as well as some of the others, probably because of his record of nearly nine years of consecutive play.

Mays Slipping.

Another fairly youthful member of the old outfit is Carl Mays, who, like Scott, is beginning to run down. Mays was let out by the Yanks after a bad season in 1923, but came back remarkably with the Reds last year. His arm hangs useless now and the Reds are merely tolerating him because they hope it may come around, if only temporarily.

With his underhand style of pitching, it is difficult to imagine Mays as a major league pitcher five years from now.

Neither can much hope be held out for Leonard, although the left hander is doing reasonably well with the Tigers. He dropped out of baseball, however, for several seasons and the let up seemed to impair his efficiency. Leonard is not nearly the pitcher he was in 1918, and another season or two should see the last of him.

Five thumbed outfielding, plus a hitting rampage, helped the White Sox to a 12 to 7 victory over the Tigers.

Tagging The Bases

The Red Sox made four runs or four hits, the Athletics two runs on nine hits. And that's an excellent way to win and lose a ball game. Ehmke turned in his first Boston victory of the season.

Ring sent the Phils into the west a first division proposition by pitching the Braves out of a 5 to 4 decision, the Bancroft entry being helpless until the eighth inning.

Bob Meusel's fifth home run within a week staked the Yankees to their second successive victory over the Senators in a twelfth inning finish, 6 to 4. Shanks' homer tied the score in the ninth.

The Browns made it three straight over the Indians by clubbing their way through Shaute, Roy and Buckeye to a 7 to 6 verdict.

Hornby's hammering henchmen made it four straight over the Reds, 7 to 3, and kept the new manager's record clean. Dickerman held the Reds to four hits.

FISH AND GAME MEET TONIGHT

Members of the East Liverpool branch of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in their headquarters in the Fowler building, in the Diamond.

Undoubtedly discussion will center around the annual outing of the county organization which will be held July 22 at Guilford park.

SPORT SPARKS

For the first time in many years Philadelphia fans can now back up their baseball chatter with something more than optimism. Just now the Standing of the Clubs is more important than the Social Register to the Slowtown boys.

Supporters of the New York Yankees have adopted the slogan: "Throw your raspberries while you may; the Yanks will be in the first division tomorrow."

If the Pittsburgh players could field as well as they bat the club would be on the heels of the league leaders. Seems as if the Pirates always make errors at the most untimely moments.

Earl Smith has committed some of the most atrocious of Pittsburgh's errors, but at the bat he has been shining like the well-known candle in the corner. In public esteem ballplayers are like boxers—anything will be forgiven if they have the old wallop.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn appear to be the only clubs capable of stopping the Giants. If the western clubs fail to shoot the New Yorkers full of holes during the swing around the western circuit, the pennant race will be sewed up by mid-summer, and the one sided contest will produce an alarming deficit in gate receipts.

RING FOX WILL BECOME TIGER FRIDAY NIGHT

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Can a fox turn tiger?

In the main, that is one of those questions you answer by asking another: Why do hens eat garlic? Usually they don't.

The writer, however, witnessed something of a transition from the fox to the tiger on a certain evening last December when Tom Gibbons, clever to the point of being downright unpleasant about it and usually about as vicious as a head waiter, was hit low several times in succession by Kid Norfolk.

Gibbons stepped right out of character and forgot to be the fox who baffles the pursuer. He suddenly wanted to be the Tiger who pursues and kills and he was. He knocked Norfolk over in a few punches.

The same Gibbons declared today at his Coney Island training camp that he intends to fight Gene Tunney the same way for 15 rounds or less, tomorrow night as he did Kid Norfolk for 15 seconds or more last December.

He plans to forsake the habit of a life time and go after Tunney from the time of the first bell.

"I plan to carry the fight to Tunney from first to last," Gibbons said. "They have called me a safety-first boxer. Perhaps they will call me something else after tomorrow night."

Gibbons was as serious as rat poison, his almost habitually pleasant face grim, his eyes snapping sparks. He is in wonderful physical condition, better than he was for Dempsey at Shelby.

"They tell me that Tunney has the same idea," the writer interposed.

"Fine," came the reply on the split-second. "That will make a real fight of it."

But Gibbons really has slight faith in Tunney's alleged reformation. He proved that a moment later.

"I expect to have to carry the fight to Tunney," he declared. "From what I have seen and heard, I think he will fight a defensive battle. Well, I'll fool them and him if they expect me to follow suit."

"Don't you fear Tunney's punch, then?" I asked.

No, it seemed not.

"That is," he added, hastily, "not in the way I would fear Dempsey's or Wills'. But I respect Tunney's hitting just as I would any man's. I'm not going in there swinging with my guard down."

Gibbons was about to indulge in his final workout for the meeting, a series of light exercises lasting less than a half hour. A short walk tomorrow, the weighting in ceremonies and then the long tedious wait for the bell.

Betting today was even, the public having no definite choice for the winner. The loser, in fact, probably will be the man who thinks he is justified in giving odds, either way.

HOUSE PETERS IN BIG FILM

"The Tornado" Comes to Ceramic Theatre Thursday.

House Peters, whose appearances on the screen have been regretably few since his great successes in "The Storm" and "Human Hearts," will show conclusively in the Ceramic theater tomorrow night that he has lost none of that vigor of personality and dramatic ability which made him famous as a motion picture star.

Peters plays the name part in "The Tornado," Universal-Jewel, adapted from Lincoln J. Carter's famous play, which, on its first screening, lived up to the promises of the advance notices acclaiming it one of the biggest dramas ever made for the screen.

Fortunately most persons have been spared the experiences depicted so convincingly in "The Tornado," but all who read know that towns have been swept away in floods and destroyed by hurricanes, and that bridges have collapsed carrying down with them the train that was crossing.

But, while "The Tornado" primarily is a series of spectacular hazards and destruction, it is far from being devoid of a dramatic story, and ample opportunity is afforded for the star and those prominently cast in the picture to utilize their histronic talents.

King Baggot, who directed "Human Hearts" and a number of other big Universal pictures, made this impressive production.
